THE CONDITION OF FORT SUMTER.

The steamship Fulton, Capt. WOTTON, from Charleston Bar, on Friday last, arrived yesterday afternoon.

We are indebted to Purser MCMANUS for prompt delivery of our news packages.

The Fulton brings a report that the sea-wall of Sumter has been entirely destroyed. The rebels were building a bomb-proof in the ruins. The bombardment still continues.

OUR SPECIAL ARMY CORRESPONDENCE.

MORRIS ISLAND, S. C., Wednesday, Nov. 18, 1863.

Yesterday Charleston was again shelled, making the third time that city has been subjected to a direct fire since the commencement of the siege. The shells were thrown from Battery Putnam, formerly Gregg, and numbered altogether twenty-ones nineteen of which were seen to explode on striking the buildings. They were percussion shells. The result of the bombardment is not known to us, but we are satisfied that so large a number of shells could not be exploded in the thickly settled portion of Charleston without causing considerable damage

FURIOUS CANNONADE BY THE ENEMY.

At 1 o'clock, Monday morning, the garrison at Putnam was assailed by the most furious cannonading that the enemy has at any one time bestowed upon it. Forts Johnson and Moultrie, and some minor batteries on James and Sullivan's Islands, were engaged. The firing lasted about one hour, and was scarcely replied to by our guns. The enemy used mortars chiefly on Sullivan's Island. His object in breaking out so spasmodically at that unreasonable hour is not clear to us, unless it was for the purpose of covering an attack on Putnam. Another reason is assigned, that the enemy could not relieve the garrison at Sumter, without first diverting our fire from that fort. No damage was sustained by us.

As to the matter of regaining any portion of Morris Island, the enemy will be convinced, if he hazards a trial, that such an event is impossible. Every assailable point is fortified to a formidable extent, and most scrupulous caution is observed, both day and night, by those on guard. Immediately succeeding the artillery attack on Monday morning, all the troops on the island were ordered into line, thoroughly equipped, and prepared to resist any aggression of the soil by the enemy's forces.

THE MONITOR LEHIGH AGROUND.

At nearly the same time the enemy opened on Putnam the monitor Lehigh got aground off Sullivan's Island, at a point well in toward Fort Moultrie. The Lehigh, in connection with one other monitor and two small boats, had been ordered to do picket-duty in the harbor, but in maneuvering about to get a desirable position, the Lehigh approached too near the Sullivan's Island shore and grounded. At daylight the enemy observed the situation and opened a brisk fire from Moultrie, Beauregard and the water-batteries, on the Lehigh, to which the monitor replied with all the vigor possible. The Lehigh, however, could not get afloat, as it was low water, and it began to look rather gloomy for her future history when three other monitors went up to her assistance.

THE FIRING

was then maintained by the four monitors on the enemy's works regularly but not rapidly till nearly noon, when the Lehigh got afloat on the high tide. She came out with five or six of her crew wounded, and herself disabled so as to require a trip to Port Royal for repairs. The Ironsides had been ordered to join the monitors in the afternoon, but the order was revoked as soon as it was discovered that the Lehigh was free. During the engagement with the monitors the enemy did not lose sight of our works on Morris Island, and at intervals of twenty or thirty minutes sent over a well-directed shell. The release of the Lehigh was the signal for all the monitors to withdraw, and with that movement closed the firing, with the exception of a few shots exchanged by the land batteries, for the day.

THE STEAMER PLANTER FIRED UPON.

On Sunday morning, as the steamer Planter, which was formerly used as a ferry-boat between Folly and Morris Islands, was passing up Folly River on her way to Light House Inlet, by the inland passage, and when near the latter, was fired upon by the rebel batteries near Secessionville on James Island. The rebels continued the firing until the Planter rounded into the Inlet, and moved down out of range. Eight shots were fired, not one of which took effect, although two or three struck quite close to her. The gunboat McDonough, commanded by Capt. BACON, which is stationed in the Inlet, replied to the rebels, but not strictly to their batteries, inasmuch as he directed his fire to the town of Secessionville, wherein are numerous rebel quarters. The Planter made a return trip Monday morning, but was not molested by the enemy. Yesterday, however, in going again to the inlet the fire was renewed by the rebels, which was amply met by the McDonough. The Planter was not struck, and came to her anchorage with an exultant crew. She is a small side-wheel boat that has seen considerable service, and is intended to be plied between Stono and Lighthouse Inlets viâ Folly River. It is by means essential for military purposes that Folly River from Pawnee Landing to Lighthouse Inlet should be used for navigable purposes by us, but an amount of satisfaction is derived from the fact of knowing that our boats can sail over the entire length of the river.

A RECONNOISSANCE TO SEABROOK ISLAND.

On Friday last an expedition under command of Gen. SCHIMMELFINNIG proceeded to Seabrook Island for the purpose of reconnoitering and capturing the rebel pickets that were reported to be there. Upon arriving at Seabrook, none of the enemy were discovered. The pickets were mounted, and probably galloped across the marsh to John's Island on the approach of our forces. A body of rebels were seen on John's Island on Sunday morning, who opened with a section of artillery on our troops, wounding three very slightly. In the afternoon the enemy received reinforcements, and was preparing for an engagement, but as the object of Gen. SCHIMMELFINNIG was not to give or take battle, and having made a successful reconnoissance, he withdrew his forces, and arrived at Folly Island early Monday morning.

WHIT.

MORRIS ISLAND, S. C., Friday, Nov. 20, 1863.

Fifteen shells were thrown into Charleston yesterday.

On Tuesday, while the shelling was going on, the enemy hoisted a hospital flag on one of the prominent buildings.

There is very little firing this morning.

The enemy has been busily engaged erecting a formidable battery in the rear of the Moultrie House, on Sullivan's Island. For some weeks past the hospital flag has been shown at the Moultrie House in order to protect it from our fire, but it seems the house, instead of being used as a hospital has furnished the rebels a screen behind which they built the battery in question. A portion of the roof has been taken off and other parts of the building pulled down, and it is believed everything is so arranged that when the iron-clads make the next grand assault the entire structure can be leveled in a short time, thus leaving an open front for the battery. Thus far a sacred regard has been paid to the hospital flag, but the enemy, having violated its use, cannot expect the same course will be observed in the future. The enemy will pay dearly for his perfidy. With or without hospital flags, the City of Charleston is doomed and has already had more than a foretaste of its fate from Gen. GILLMORE's batteries.

Gen. SPRAGUE, Adjutant-General of the State of New-York, is a guest of Gen. GILLMORE. He visits this Department for the purpose of investigating the condition and requirements of the New-York troops. The commandants of the various regiments met him by appointment yesterday.

Preparations are being made by the numerous officers for the customary observance of the approaching Thanksgiving. With the limited means they possess, it cannot be expected they will successfully rival our friends at home in the matter of sumptuous viands, although doubtless they will not be behind time as to convivial enjoyment. The Masonic Hall, recently built near the general headquarters, has been tastefully decorated with shrubbery and pines, and in interior appearance will compare favorably with that of many grander edifices in the Metropolis during the Christmas holidays.

The following orders, it will be observed, have a direct bearing on correspondence from this Department:

DEPARTMENT OF THE SOUTH,
HEADQUARTERS IN THE FIELD,
FOLLY ISLAND, S. C., Nov. 18, 1863.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 102.—I. General Orders, No. 66, current series, from these Headquarters, are hereby amended by the omission of the phrase, "except after engagements have taken place."

II. Deserters will in no event be questioned by any person whatever, without authority from Department Headquarters, except by the Commander of the Post at which they arrive, who will forward their statements in writing, if at all important, direct to the Commanding General.

III. The arrival of deserters or fugitives, the military information derived from them or from prisoners of war, as well as all arrivals and departures of troops, are items of contraband news, which must be carefully suppressed.

IV. Commanders of Posts where newspapers are published, will be held responsible for the character of the matter which those papers contain and will cause the proof-sheets of the same to be examined, and if necessary, corrected, agreeably to the provisions of this and General Orders No. 66, current series, from these headquarters.

V. In honor of Brig-Gen. T. SEYMOUR, U. S. Vols., and Col. WM. B. BARTON, 48th New-York Vols., wounded at the assault of Fort Wagner, July 18, the 10-inch Mortar battery, south of Battery Chatfield, will be called Battery Seymour, and the one still further south, Battery Barton.

By command of Maj.-Gen. Q. A. GILLMORE.
W. L. M. BURGER, Assistant Adjutant-General.
Official:
ISRAEL R. SEALY, Capt. 47th N. Y. Vols., Acting Assistant Adjutant-General.

REPORTS FROM BALTIMORE.

BALTIMORE, Monday, Nov. 23.

The transport Delaware, from Port Royal and Stono Bar on the 20th instant, arrived here this morning.

On the 21st inst. the Delaware discovered a steamer crossing her bows, steaming northwest.

The Delaware soon made her out to be a blockade-runner, when chase was immediately given.

The steamship Fulton coming up joined in the chase, and in a few hours the blockade runner surrendered to the steamer Fulton, and proved to be the rebel steamer Banshee, from Nassau for Wilmington, with a cargo of great value. She was placed in charge of Mr. WALKER, first officer of the Fulton, and sent in tow to New-York.

PROGRESS OF THE SIEGE.

In the Port Royal New South of Nov. 21, we find the following news:

STIRRING ENGAGEMENT IN CHARLESTON HARBOR.

On Sunday night last, the monitor Lehigh, Commodore BRYSON, ran well up toward Fort Sumter, and anchored for the night as a picket boat. Unfortunately the falling tide left her aground. At daylight her position was discovered by the rebels, who opened upon her from nearly all their guns on Sullivan's Island, and some from Fort Johnson, and battery Simkins. The Lehigh gallantly returned the fire from both her guns, efforts being made on board the meanwhile to extricate the vessel from her dangerous position, but without success. The falling tide every moment exposed more of her hull and the enemy's fire seemed to be redoubled in intensity. Two other monitors, the Nahant and the Passaic at once stood up to her assistance and joined in the fight. The engagement continued until nearly high tide again, when she was towed off by the monitors, and brought out of range. During the engagement, the officers and crew being on deck, laboring to get out lines to haul her off, several of the crew were wounded by pieces of exploding shells. Commander BRYSON was slightly cut in the face by a fragment of shell, and Lieut. HOPKINS, the executive officer of the ship, was badly hurt in the calf of the leg, by the same cause. It is feared that it may be necessary to amputate his limb, if unfavorable symptoms should manifest themselves. The vessel, though frequently hit, was damaged but little.

THE YACHT UNA.

The famous yacht Una, seventy tons burthen, arrived at this port on the 8th ult. She sailed from Boston, touching at Newport, R. I., and from thence she sailed for Fortress Monroe. Arriving at the latter port, the passengers received every attention possible from Capt. AINSWORTH, Master of Transportation, whose acts of courtesy will long be remembered. The Una was built by the celebrated shipbuilder Mr. GEORGE STEERS, for a Mr. WATERBURY. Subsequently she was purchased by the City of Boston as a pleasure yacht, but finding that the City Fathers paid more attention to yachting than business, she was disposed of to Mr. LEONARD, who came down as a passenger. She was consigned to Messrs. DUNBAR & FRANZ.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Saturday, Nov. 21.

Arrived, steamer Sierra Nevada, with $246,000 in treasure from Oregon, and $242,000 from British Columbia.

Sailed, ship New Hampshire, for Hong Kong, carrying $110,000 in treasure.

Money is easy.

The receipts of treasure since the sailing of the last steamer amount to $2,500,000.

FROM EAST TENNESSEE.

Advices from General Burnside to Sunday Noon.

Our Forces Still Holding Knoxville.

Assurances that the Place Will Not be Evacuated.

The Rebel Force Thirty-Six Thousand Strong.

IMPORTANT INTELLIGENCE EXPECTED.

CINCINNATI, Monday, Nov. 23.

Major-Gen. FOSTER has arrived here, and will leave for Knoxville to-day.

Advices from East Tennessee, up to 11 o'clock yesterday morning, are encouraging.

At that time firing at Knoxville was heard by our extreme outposts from Cumberland Gap.

Adjt. STANLEY, of the Twelfth Kentucky cavalry, arrived at Cumberland Gap yesterday.

He brings hopeful news of the situation of Gen. BURNSIDE.

Gen. BURNSIDE was still holding out, and had notified the citizens that he would certainly hold Knoxville.

The rebel force opposing him was estimated at 36,000.

Knoxville is not closely invested by the rebels.

The rebels have withdrawn from the south side of the river, and we forage there.

The artillery fighting on the 19th and 20th instants was very severe.

Brig.-Gen. SANDERS, who was wounded at Campbell's Station a few days ago, has since died.

Col. WALFORD is slightly wounded.

The Commercial of this city says:

"The withdrawal of the enemy from the south side of Knoxville, is significant of a decided repulse. Gen. BURNSIDE is holding Knoxville under instructions from Gen. GRANT, and it is not to be supposed, therefore, that the forces under Gens. THOMAS HOOKER and SHERMAN are wasting their time during these momentous days. We are hourly in expectation of receiving intelligence of a most important character."

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Monday, Nov. 23.

OULD AND MEREDITH.

Col. WHITELEY's mission on behalf of the imprisoned newspaper correspondents in Richmond has been only partially successful. The difficulty in this case, and indeed in the whole matter of exchanges, results from the hostile relations and the irreconcilable personal animosity of the two Commissioners, OULD and MEREDITH. It is not a question of the rights of negro captives, or of the rights or liabilities of white officers of colored regiments, which separates the Commissioners, as has been alleged. The Richmond Government has not, and if it can help it will not, make any question about its policy with respect to negroes taken in arms. OULD and MEREDITH are not at swords' points over any principle. They are in that mutually hateful and unaccommodating temper which men are worked up to by recriminations of lying and drunkenness. MEREDITH's last letter to OULD was so personal that it was not replied to. Their relations closed by it. In the meantime our friends languish and die in Libby Prison and on Belle Island.

WHERE GILLMORE'S SHELLS STRIKE IN CHARLESTON.

A private letter received here to-day from an Officer in Gen. GILLMORE's army, states, upon the authority of a rebel deserter, that several of the shells recently thrown from Fort Gregg exploded in King-street, the very heart of Charleston, killing several persons, among them an Officer of the Third South-Carolina artillery, and riddling and setting on fire several dwellings.

THE EXCHANGE OF HON. LUCIEN ANDERSON.

The rebel game of cooping up ANDERSON, of Kentucky, until after the organization of the House, has been defeated. He has been exchanged. Immediately after his capture, his friend BOLINGER went to work to effect the arrest of a squad of prominent Kentucky and Tennessee traitors. The captors of ANDERSON were brought to terms. They offered to exchange him for TRUSTEN POLK, the Confederate Congressman, who is cooling himself on Johnson's Island. Consent to the swap was cheerfully given by our Government, and LUCE ANDERSON was at Paducah yesterday on his way to Washington.

COMMISSIONS IN THE INVALID CORPS.

A system of examining the officers of the Invalid corps, like that of officers for negro regiments, is soon to be instituted here, and will revert to civil life a crowd of incompetent men, who are now serenely feeding at the public crib.

GEN. SIGEL.

It is understood that Gen. SIGEL will take the place of Gen. SCHENCK, in command of Baltimore, after the latter takes his seat in the House.

THE INCOME TAX.

A recent circular respecting the income tax having been misconstrued to exempt all incomes from professional services, or from any sources other than fixed investments, Commissioner LEWIS has decided anew that such incomes are not exempt.

SECRETARY CHASE HAS NOT RESIGNED.

There is no truth whatever in the Cincinnati Enquirer's statement that Secretary CHASE's resignation is in the hands of the President, sent in view of the resignation of Judge TANEY, and for the succession to his place on the Supreme Court Bench.

ARMY CHANGES.

Lieut.-Col. J. P. WALKER, Eighty-fifth Illinois Volunteers, has been dismissed the service for misbehavior before the enemy.

By direction of the President the names of First Lieut. SYMMES GARDENER, Eighteen United States infantry, and FRANK A. TEASE, as an officer of the One Hundred and Seventy-eighth New-York Volunteers, have been dropped from the rolls of the army.

The orders dismissing from service Col. BURON EGLOSSTEIN, One Hundred and Third New-York volunteers, and Col. CAVENDER, Twenty-ninth Missouri volunteers, have been revoked, and they are honorably discharged the service.

PROMOTED.

Secretary WELLES has commissioned Acting-Master JOSEPH B. BRECK to grade Acting Volunteer Lieutenant for skill and vigilance in having succeeded in capturing the English blockade runner Ella and Annie.

PROVOST-JUDGE.

Maj. JOSEPH M. BELL, A. D. C., has been appointed Provost-Judge of the Department of Virginia and North Carolina, vice Maj. STACKPOLE, relieved.

THE BATTLE-FLAGS

captured by Gen. RUSSELL's brigade, in the recent fight on the Rappahannock, have been received at the War Department. They were presented by the General, with the following letter from Gen. MEADE:

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC,
Nov. 12, 1863.

GENERAL: I have the honor herewith to transmit, in charge of Brig.-Gen. D. A. RUSSELL, seven battle flags and one staff, the flag of which was torn off by the standard-bearer to prevent its being captured. These trophies were taken in the recent gallant assault on the enemy's intrenched position at Rappahannock Station, and Brig. Gen. RUSSELL has been designated by Maj.-Gen. SEDGWICK to deliver them to you, because of his conspicuous conduct as the leader of the storming party on the occasion.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,
GEO. G. MEADE,
Major-General Commanding.

To the Adjutant-General of the Army, Washington.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Monday, Nov. 23.

THE REBEL STEAMER BANSHEE.

According to information in possession of the Navy Department, the Banshee, recently captured, was built at the yard of JONES, QUIGAN & Co., in Liverpool, and launched in the latter part of November, 1862. She is a paddle-wheeled steamer, and called a steel boat, the plates used in her construction being of steel three-quarters of an inch in thickness, which are said to be equal to iron plates an inch thick. She is 220 feet long, 20 feet broad, and 22 feet deep. Her bottom is flat, and her hull is divided into four water-tight compartments. Her engines are oscillating, of 120-horse power, and so constructed as to be under the decks. When fully loaded, she draws only eight feet of water.

NOBODY CAN GO TO RICHMOND.

Inquiry is frequently made as to whether, with proper exertions, relief agents might not obtain leave to go to Richmond and administer to our sick in the hospitals there. The following letter from Gen. MEREDITH will answer that inquiry.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER FOR EXCHANGE,
FORTRESS MONROE, Nov. 22, 1863.

Frederick N. Knapp, Esq., Associate Secretary of the United States Sanitary Commission, Washington, D. C.

DEAR SIR,—Your letter of the 21st is received, and in reply I will state that the rebels will allow no one to go to Richmond. I have already made several applications to that effect, which have been positively refused.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
S. H. MEREDITH, Brigadier-General.

THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

Reported Advance of General Meade.

The Report Affirmed and Contradicted.

LEE EXPECTING AN ATTACK.

HIS POSITION BEING STRENGTHENED.

The Rebel Army Fifty to Sixty Thousand Strong.

WASHINGTON, Monday, Nov. 23, 1863.

The Republican extra of this morning says: "This morning at dawn of day the grand Army of the Potomac broke camp near the north bank of the Rapidan, and with ten days' cooked rations in haversacks and wagons, commenced an advance movement upon the enemy, under orders from Gen. MEADE.

It is supposed that before noon to-day the whole of our army will be beyond the Rapidan. Gen. LEE must fight or run. If LEE has resisted the crossing of Gen. MEADE's forces there has been a battle before this.

If General LEE does not resist our crossing of the Rapidan, then it is evident that he is not strong enough to fight outside of fortifications.

In the latter event he will fall back upon Gordonsville or Richmond; most likely the former.

The report that LEE's army is at Hanover Junction, is only speculation.

It will soon be known exactly where it is, for Gen. MEADE will not stop until he finds it, if he has to go to the very walls of Richmond."

WASHINGTON, Monday, Nov. 23.

It was published here to-day, and telegraphed North, that the Army of the Potomac, at daybreak, commenced an advance on the enemy. But gentlemen who arrived from the front to-night are entirely ignorant of the alleged movement. The announcement was premature.

WASHINGTON, Monday, Nov. 23.

Advices received from the Army of the Potomac to-night say the heavy storm of Saturday, while doing no damage to the railroad, had the effect of swelling the principal streams to an almost impassable height; and the low grounds and hollows, owing to the particularly soft and spongy character of the soil, are full of sloughs and cradle-holes, dangerous to wagon transportation.

Deserters come into our lines almost hourly.

The most intelligent and probably well informed gentlemen estimate LEE's effective strength at from 50,000 to 60,000.

A man of high connection in a rebel State says LEE is in hourly expectation of an attack by Gen. MEADE, and prepared at every point to give him a terrible reception.

The prominent and temporary rebel works on the Rapidan are being strengthened and enlarged to a vast extent.

Lamentable Accident at Gettysburgh.

EXPLOSION OF A SHELL—A BOY KILLED AND A MAN FATALLY INJURED—THE PATRIOT JOHN BURNS COMING TO NEW-YORK.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

GETTYSBURGH, Pa., Friday Evening, Nov. 20, 1863.

The dedication of the National Cemetery, which passed off so auspiciously here yesterday, has been followed to-day by a most lamentable occurrence which has spread gloom over the village of Gettysburgh, and added one, and perhaps two more victims to those deadly missiles which were hurled over this town, filling the air like hail-stones in a storm, on the 2d and 3d of July last. A Mr. BRIGGS, of Philadelphia, who had come on to attend the celebration and to recover the body of his son who fell here in the battles of July, found an unexploded 20-pound shell while wandering over the battle-fields this morning, and wishing to preserve it as a relic, brought it home to his lodgings on Middle-street—a private house kept by Mr. PARSONS. Adjoining the house is a stone-cutter's yard, and about 12 o'clock to-day Mr. BRIGGS went into this yard for the purpose of removing the contents of the shell. After removing the cap, he tapped the end of the shell lightly against a stone lying in the yard, for the purpose of shaking the powder out, when it exploded with a terrific report, cutting both of Mr. BRIGGS' arms off below the elbows, and literally tearing to pieces a little boy nine years of age, who was standing a few feet distant, and who, when the shell exploded, was in the act of cautioning Mr. BRIGGS against his careless handling of the shell. Another boy, standing in the vicinity, was thrown clear across the street, a distance of forty feet, but, strange to say, suffered no other injury than a slight bruise. The name of the boy who was killed was FRAZIER. He was the son of a poor widow, living out on the Taneytown Road, and had been adopted by Mr. PARSONS. As if to add to the sadness and seeming fatality of the occurrence, the dead body of Mr. BRIGGS' son, which had been exhumed for reburial, was lying near by in a coffin in the yard when the accident took place. Dr. ELLIS, an army surgeon, was immediately called to attend Mr. BRIGGS, and is doing the best he can for the unfortunate man, but has little hopes of his recovery. Besides losing both his arms, his face is badly burnt, and a piece of the shell passed up into his left shoulder, where it will be difficult to extract it. Dr. ELLIS is of the opinion that the explosion was caused by concussion of the fulminating powder with which it was charged, and not by sparks from the stone against which it was struck. I understand that Mr. BRIGGS has a brother living in New-York and doing business in the Third-avenue.

But a small portion of the visitors who came to attend the dedication of the new cemetery have yet been able to get away, owing to the meagre railroad accommodations leading out of this place. The hillsides are still covered with pilgrims in search of relics of the battles of July, which continue to be found in abundance in the outskirts of the town. The brave old Gettysburgh patriot, JOHN BURNS, is overwhelmed with visitors, and is doing quite a thriving business in the sale of photographic views of himself and his humble abode. He is a shoemaker by trade, and was not overburdened with this world's goods at the time he shouldered his musket, and sallied forth to join the Union forces in defence of his burough; but he says he has now paid off all his debts, and owns his house clear, and hopes to be able to sit under his own vine and fig-tree the remainder of his days. He was born in Burlington, N. J., and reached his seventieth year in September last. When the rebels made their appearance the second time in this vicinity, and he heard they were marshaling their forces on the other side of the Seminary Ridge, which is in plain sight of his house, I am told that the old man's wrath knew no bounds; he ripped and swore, to use the language of one of his neighbors, "like a mad bull," and running across the street to the house where I am now stopping, he told Mrs. WALTER that "he could stand it no longer, he must have a hand in the fight." "If I don't come back," said he, "I wish you would see to the old woman," and so saying he hurried across the fields and disappeared in the woods on the brow of the Seminary Ridge. The old man told me that he went straight to the first Colonel he saw, who proved to be the Colonel of a Wisconsin regiment, and who shook him warmly by the hand, furnished him with a good Minie rifle, and told him to go in and fight on his own hook. He had not fired more than a dozen rounds before he was wounded in the leg, and after lying out on the ground through the night of the 1st of July, he hobbled back next morning to his cabin at the outskirts of the town, in Chambersburgh-street, which, to his utter disgust and indignation, he found filled with wounded rebel soldiers. I am inclined to think that the old man judges the rebels harshly, but he solemnly asseverates that the cowardly scoundrels undertook to murder him after he got back to his domicil, and lay wounded on the floor. He says that he crawled into his basement, and after getting a comfortable position in one corner was about taking a patriotic snooze, when whiz came a bullet through the clapboards and lodged in the ceiling only a few inches above his head. Soon after came another, which struck still nearer where he lay. There is no use trying to make the old man believe these were chance shots, for he says that only a few moments previous some rebel sharpshooters came into the room where he lay, and disappeared again in a very suspicious way. There were wounded rebels lying in the same room, and as the bullets struck near him and some distance from the "rebs," he is positive that the sharpshooters went outside and purposely fired in the direction of his cot. If it is only an illusion of the old man it is a harmless one, and don't help add in the least to his undying hatred and contempt of the traitors to his country. The old man tells me he is going to visit New-York City in a few days. I hope the Common Council will do as much for him as they have done for men far less worthy than he. The least they can do is to grant him the "freedom of the City," and if it be accompanied by a snuff-box full of tobacco, I will wager the old man will "put it in his pipe and smoke it," and thank them to boot.

FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

Relief Forwarded to Our Men at Richmond—The Rebels Report an Advance by Meade.

FORTRESS MONROE, Friday, Nov. 20.

Sixteen rebel prisoners arrived here last evening on the steamer Thomas A. Morgan from Yorktown. They were stationed in Mathews County, and stated they were placed there by the rebel authorities to prevent smuggling. This is doubted.

The steamer Convoy, Capt. BOCHNER, arrived here to-day at noon from City Point.

Col. IRVING has satisfactorily transferred all the Government rations, as well as all the provisions, from the Baltimore Relief Fund for the Federal prisoners in and about Richmond, to Commissioner OULD.

The Richmond Examiner, of Nov. 18, says:

"Seven hundred more Federal prisoners have been sent from Richmond to Salisbury."

The same paper also says:

"We have vague and general reports that MEADE is moving up the Rapidan. A skirmish took place at Morton's Ford on Sunday morning. Gen. RODE's division was guarding the ford."

Receipt of Cotton at Cairo—Guerrilla Movements, &c.

CAIRO, Monday, Nov. 23.

The steamer Anderson has arrived, with 600 bales of cotton from Memphis, for Cincinnati.

Roving bands of guerrillas infest the river below, one hundred of whom, under the notorious SOL STREET, entered Hickman, Ky., last Thursday, plundered the stores and houses, and captured four or five wounded soldiers.

Hon. LUCIEN ANDERSON, recently captured at Mayfield by the rebels, passed through here enroute for home to-day. He was released on condition that he would procure the release of PRUSTEN POLK.

From New-Orleans.

The U. S. steam transport Mississippi, Capt. TALBOT, from New-Orleans Nov. 7, viâ Key West 16th inst., with cotton, sugar, etc., to U. S. Quartermaster, arrived yesterday. She left at Key West, U. S. steamers San Jacinto, De Soto, Bienville, Huntsville and Sagamore.

EUROPEAN NEWS.

ARRIVAL OF THE AMERICA

Lord Palmerston on the American Question.

His Speech at the Lord Mayor's Banquet.

THE PROPOSED EUROPEAN CONGRESS.

GENERAL CONTINENTAL NEWS.

The Bremen steamship America, from Southampton Nov. 11, arrived at this port yesterday morning. Her news is not so late by one day as that by the City of Baltimore, which passed Cape Race on Friday. The following details, which we find in our files, are of interest and importance:

The Caroline, from Cronstadt for New-York, with hemp, waterlogged and abandoned by her crew, has been taken into Aspoe.

The Phœnician, of Belfast, from New-York, was abandoned Oct. 16. Crew saved by the Echo, from New-York, which has put into Queenstown leaky.

ENGLAND.

THE LORD MAYOR'S DAY.

IMPORTANT SPEECHES BY THE LORD CHIEF BARON AND LORD PALMERSTON.

On Nov. 9, Alderman LAWRENCE, the new Lord Mayor of London, was inaugurated with the customary ceremonies.

At the banquet in the ancient Guildhall, in the evening, Viscount and Viscountess PALMERSTON, the Duke of Somerset, the Marquis of Salisbury, the Earl GRANVILLE, the Earl of Hardwicke, Earl and Countess de Grey and Ripon, and a large number of other distinguished personages were in attendance. After brief and formal speeches by the Duke of Somerset, Earl de Grey and Ripon, and others, Lord PALMERSTON responded as follows to the toast "The Health of Lord PALMERSTON and Her Majesty's Ministers:"

MY LORD MAYOR, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—For myself and my colleagues I beg to return you their most sincere thanks for the kind manner in which the last toast has been proposed and received. I can assure you that those who are charged with the conduct of the affairs of this country must always feel the highest gratification at being permitted to be present at the splendid hospitalities of this great city. And not only do we receive personal gratification, but we feel that on these occasions that which takes place cements that union between the different classes of the community which is so important to the interests of the whole. It is well that those who are engaged in carrying on those commercial transactions upon which the wealth, the strength and the happiness of this great country depend should mix from time to time with those who are the responsible advisers of the Crown in conducting the political affairs of the nation. I do not mean to say that when we meet at your festive board matters of national importance are discussed—we are too much engaged in enjoying the festive hospitality which surrounds us for that—[a laugh]—but acquaintances are formed on these occasions which ripen afterward into friendships; and it is well known that the transactions of business are made much more easy when those who meet to carry them on know and like each other. [Hear, hear.] Therefore, I say, these gatherings are of great political importance by bringing together those who are charged with the commerce of the country and those who are responsible for its political Government. There have been occasions when it was the lot of those who had to explain the state of affairs to congratulate you on the tranquil condition of the civilized world. I am afraid I cannot do that in the present instance; for, although I trust there is nothing in our horizon which can grow into a cloud of war, yet we see on all sides—in the far West and in the distant East—struggles going on of the most lamentable character, and scenes enacted which make us shudder for humanity, and excite our deep compassion for the countries in which they are occurring. [Hear, hear.] In the far West we see a nation of the same race, the same language, the same religion, the same manners and literature as ourselves, split into two, slaughtering each other by hundreds of thousands, and carrying on a contest the result of which it is impossible to foresee, and the end of which now, after more than two years' duration, he would be a bold man indeed who ventured to predict. [Hear, hear.] Lamenting that state of things, the Government of this country have felt it their duty not to yield either to the entreaties or the objurgations of the one party or the other. [Cheers.] Blandishments on the one side and threats on the other have equally been fruitless to affect our course. [Renewed cheers.] We have felt it our duty to abstain from taking any part in that deplorable conflict. If, indeed, we had thought it had been in our power to put an end to it by friendly intervention, no efforts would have been wanting to accomplish so holy an object. [Cheers.] But we felt that our interference would have been vain, and we deemed it our duty—and in that I am sure we but followed the wishes of the country—to maintain a strict and impartial neutrality. [Loud cheers.] In the East, also, scenes of a lamentable character are taking place. We there see on the one side a barbarous system of deliberate extermination carried out, and on the other side revenge venting itself in acts of murder and assassination. [Hear.] We endeavored to enlist the feelings and opinions of civilized Europe in a joint remonstrance against that which we thought was unjust. Those remonstrances have failed. We have done our duty, and we can only hope that those who have the conduct of affairs in the Russian Empire may at length cease to pursue that course which has drawn upon them the condemnation of Europe, and that peace may be restored upon terms of equity and justice in that unfortunate country. [Hear.] Well, though abroad things look ill, and much misery and calamity are sustained, this country forms a happy exception to that which seems the prevailing condition of nations. We have been blessed by Providence with abundant harvests; we have been preserved by the conduct of the Government and the sense of the country from the misfortunes of war; our population are contented and loyal, and they feel that for a long course of years the Legislature has been occupied in remedying grievances, in removing defects for our laws, in sweeping away those obstructions which the less enlightened policy of former times had placed in the way of the productive industry of the nation. By all these means, I am happy to say, I believe that the commercial and material prosperity of the country has reached a point which it never attained at any former period. [Hear, hear.] Those who know the course of the commerce of the world will tell you that year by year this great City of London is growing more and more to be the centre of all the commercial transactions of other States, that bills are drawn upon London to pay debts all over the world, that commodities destined for other countries are sent in deposit here—a tribute paid by the people of other nations to the industry, good management, integrity and high honor of our own commercial community. [Hear, hear.] I congratulate you, My Lord Mayor and Gentlemen, on this happy state of things, and I trust that the people of England will feel that they are greatly indebted for it to the reign of that beneficent Sovereign under whose mild and enlightened rule they have the good fortune to live. [Hear.] My Lord Mayor, I beg again to thank you on my own part and on that of my colleagues, and to assure you that we derive the greatest gratification from being allowed to join this festive board. [Loud cheers.]

CASE OF THE ALEXANDRA.

In the Court of Exchequer on Nov. 10, the case of the Alexandra came up incidentally, the Lord Chief Baron asking whether a shorthand writer was in attendance. In the course of the discussion the following colloquy took place:

The LORD CHIEF BARON—I wish to state publicly here that I object to the bill of exceptions in the first instance, and on the ground upon which I have continued to object to it.

The SOLICITOR-GENERAL—Yes, my Lord.

The LORD CHIEF BARON—I did so before the jury had left the box, instantly, the moment it was first put into my hands, and my reason for not immediately arguing it or pointing it out was this, that there being a shorthand writer's note, I said, "Every word which has passed has been taken down." There can be no doubt as to every syllable which has been uttered in Court, and, therefore, no mistake can be made upon the facts; they are all agreed upon; therefore there is no occasion to argue the matter now. You have tendered a bill of exceptions, but if you wish to alter it conformably to a more correc view of the facts, you can do so. That was the substance of it. It is very true that I said "I will accept any bill of exceptions which is warranted by the record of the evidence."

The SOLICITOR-GENERAL—Of course, my Lord.

The LORD CHIEF BARON—I wish that really to be distinctly understood and known.

The SOLICITOR-GENERAL—Quite so, my Lord. Of course there is no misunderstanding about this, that now the rule is substituted for the bill of exceptions.

The LORD CHIEF BARON—And I have no doubt, Mr. Solicitor-General, that you will agree with me that, there being clearly a right of appeal, the proceeding by this motion is far more beneficial to the Crown than going on the bill of exceptions above alone.

The SOLICITOR-GENERAL—If I might give an opinion, I should say far more so, my Lord.

Baron BRAMWELL—No doubt.

The LORD CHIEF BARON—Unfortunately the then Attorney-General became ill, and any communication with him ceased; but I was about to suggest the propriety of bringing the whole matter before the Court by motion instead of going on with the bill of exceptions.

The SOLICITOR-GENERAL—You did make some suggestion of this kind.

The LORD CHIEF BARON—The record of the facts was agreed to between us, and there is no doubt whatever that the facts were unchangeable, and have never been changed from that moment to this.

The Attorney-General, as we before stated, on moving for the rule, read from a printed volume of Mr. SNELL's shorthand notes of the whole of the Alexandra trial, and most of the bar engaged in the case appeared to be furnished with a copy of it.

HON. C. P. VILLIERS, M. P., ON AMERICAN AFFAIRS.

Hon. C. P. VILLIERS, M. P., made a speech at a banquet in Wolverhampton on Nov. 8. In the course of it he said:

"Great events had been passing in the world during the last four years, and the Government had been frequently required to decide upon their action with regard to them. He should not then enter into the precise course adopted by the Government upon such occasions, but he thought that he could point to some general results upon which there was no question, and which possibly might exercise some influence upon opinion. In the first place, peace during that period had been maintained, [cheers,] not at the expense of honor, for when the privilege of the British flag was assailed, as it was in a great question of maritime right by the Americans, it was by universal assent vindicated with spirit and success. [Cheers.] Again, in the face of the strongest inducements to take an opposite course, the pledge of neutrality to each contending party in the States of America has been strictly and honorably observed. [Hear, hear.] Again, duties on trade that might be written in millions have been removed, and yet the revenue had been left unimpaired [cheers;] and lastly, there was then a state of commercial prosperity in the country that equaled, and presently would exceed, that extraordinary year which preceded the one in which the disasters of America occasioned such fearful disturbance in the great industry of this country." [Cheers.]

FRANCE.

THE PROPOSED CONGRESS.

AN AUTOGRAPH LETTER FROM THE EMPEROR TO QUEEN VICTORIA.

From the London Times, Nov. 11.

The Queen received, on Monday, Nov. 9, an autograph letter from the Emperor of the French, in which His Imperial Majesty requested the Queen to send representatives to a Congress of the chief European States, whose duty it shall be to take note of and recognize the points in which the Treaty of Vienna has been infringed, and to adopt such measures with respect to present complications as may best secure the general peace. We believe that Her Majesty's Ministers will meet in Cabinet on Tuesday to consider the answer to be returned by Her Majesty to the Emperor of the French.

It is stated that the proposition for an European Congress has been addressed to fifteen Governments. It is rumored that Prussia has expressed her adhesion, and that Austria is favorable to the proposal. The French Press devotes much space to a discussion of the project.

COMMENTS OF THE FRENCH PRESS.

La Patrie says: "Letters from the Emperor inviting the sovereigns to an European Congress, were dispatched on Thursday, immediately after the speech." An article in the same journal treating of the various opinions entertained respecting the Emperor's speech, maintains the view previously expressed by that journal, and repeats that the word expressing the present position of things is not so much peace as the liberty of peoples.

The same paper believes itself able to state that the Emperor's proposition for an European Congress has met with serious objections in the Council of Ministers at Vienna. It also says, from present information it appears probable that Russia, Italy and Spain will adhere to the project. The Patrie also asserts that a Cabinet Council in London has already discussed the proposition for a Congress.

La France says: "The refusal of England and Austria to coöperate actively in the Polish question engenders an European question. Upon the table of the Congress the Emperor will open the great book of the liberty of nations, to establish public right anew, to clear away ruins from European soil, to reconstruct a new edifice founded upon the well-understood interests of sovereigns and nations, to blot out injustice and oppression, to constitute Governments in accordance with manners, history and civilization, to make a new Europe like society itself. This programme is a justification of the words: 'The Empire is peace.'"

La France also states that the Emperor's letter is pervaded by a spirit of delicate moderation and courtesy, and is said to draw the attention of the Sovereigns to the great principles of order, peace and the general interests. It also demands the establishment of a system of public law, more in accordance with accomplished facts, the spirit of the age, and the new condition of the European equilibrium, although it avoids specially pronouncing itself upon any of the particular questions which will have to be treated by the Congress, even upon that of Poland.

The Memorial Diplomatique says:

"Nothing could show more clearly the true meaning of the Emperor's speech, than the eagerness displayed by His Majesty to convene his allies and friends for coöperation in the programme he has marked out from the throne. With this object, the Emperor has already caused autograph letters to be sent to the principal Sovereigns of Europe. The purport of these communications tends to justify the remarkable words of the Bordeaux programme—'The Empire is peace.'"

The Opinione Nationale says:

"The King of Italy has accepted the invitation to a Congress, and has congratulated the Emperor upon his generous initiative."

The Pays affirms that the Emperor, in proposing a Congress, has afforded the greatest possible proof of his pacific and conciliatory intentions.

MISCELLANEOUS FRENCH NEWS.

A letter from Funchal, in the island of Madeira, of the 2d inst., gives some details of the French iron-cased squadron which had just arrived there. The squadron sailed from Brest on the 27th October, with fine weather, which continued during the voyage. The ships made various trials of their speed on different tacks during four days. They first sailed in line, each ship having on the first day two of her boilers heated, four on the second day, six on the third, and eight on the fourth. The ship-of-the-line Solferino always kept the lead, performing 14 knots an hour on the average. The ship-of-the-line Magenta and the frigate Couronne came next, making 13 knots. The Napoleon, one of the best ships of the old steam navy, followed the Couronne. The iron-cased frigates Invincible and Normandie followed close after the Napoleon. The five iron-cased ships all behaved well, as none of them steamed less than 12 knots an hour. During the trial they made with sails only the Solferino, although her masts are very low, accomplished six knots, taking the lead of all the others. After the sailing qualities of the ships were ascertained, an experiment was made to ascertain the consumption of coal. It appeared that each iron-cased ship can carry sufficient coal to perform 1,400 nautical leagues. Vice-Admiral PENAUD hoisted his flag on board the Solferino. According to his orders the squadron are to weigh anchor on the 8th inst., and to proceed to Teneriffe, and to return thence direct to Brest.

The Memorial is authorized to deny, as entirely unfounded, the report that the Duke de Gramont, French ambassador at Vienna, is to be replaced by Count WALEWSKI.

Alluding to the rumors of a change in the French Embassy at St. Petersburgh, the same paper affirms that the Duke de Montbello has not yet sent in his resignation.

The Emperor and Empress, with the Prince Imperial, left for Compeigne on Nov. 8, where they will remain a month.

M. M. BERRYER and MARIE have taken the oath of allegiance.

AUSTRIA.

At the sitting of the Lower House of the Reichsrath, on Nov. 7, a credit of 69,000,000 was unanimously granted by the House without debate.

The Vienna Press considers this to be a demonstration against the French Emperor's speech.

The Union Bank is in a state of dissolution. The grantees were unable to come to an understanding with persons wishing to purchase the privilege, occasioning the English and Austrian directors to withdraw from the undertaking.

Prince METTERNICH left on the 7th for Paris.

A telegram from Vienna of Nov. 9, says:

"The Duke DE GRAMONT delivered to Count RECHBERG, on the 7th, the copy of an autograph letter from the Emperor NAPOLEON to the Emperor of Austria, inviting the latter to a Congress of Sovereigns at Paris. The Vienna journals advocate a close alliance with England and Prussia."

Prince METTERNICH has been authorized to declare to the Emperor NAPOLEON that Austria is ready to coöperate in an European Congress, upon a basis yet to be determined for the strengthening of the public European right, with special regard to accomplished facts.

ITALY.

The National Bank had raised its discount rate to 7 ℘ cent.

The Liberal Press unanimously applaud the French Emperor's speech.

The Opinione says: "Italy must accept as a happy event the proclamation of the nullity of the treaties of 1815. If a Congress is possible, it will not be Italy who will offer any obstacle to it: but Italy, foreseeing coming events, must prepare to take up arms."

GREECE.

I shall respect and conscientiously observe your laws, and especially the constitution, that keystone of the Greek edifice. I shall also endeavor to love and respect your customs and language, everything that is dear to you, as I love you already.

My ambition is to make Greece the model State of the East.

The Almighty will give strength to my weakness and enlighten my efforts; He will aid me not to forget the obligations which I have contracted toward you.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Capture of the Blockade-Runner Banshee.

The United States steam transport Fulton from Port Royal, the 20th inst., arrived yesterday, bringing in tow the prize steamer Banshee, captured by her off Wilmington, on the 21st. The Banshee left Nassau, N. P., on the 17th of November and was bound for Wilmington, N. C., at the time she was taken. The following are the particulars obtained from Purser McMANUS of the Fulton:

UNITED STATES STEAMER FULTON,
OFF WILMINGTON, N. C., Nov. 20, 1863.

At 7 o'clock A. M., 21st inst., our lookout at the foretopmast-head reported a sail five points on our port bow; whereupon our pilot, Mr. G. MAPES, went aloft, to relieve the lookout and to report correctly from time to time on deck to Capt. WOTTON the movements of the suspicious sail, and by the aid of the glass he made her out to be a steamer, painted white, with two smoke-stacks, and burning soft coal. Whereupon Capt. WOTTON ordered chase to be made, which order was immediately obeyed. At this time, 7.30 A. M., no other sail being in sight, and we were rapidly shortening the distance between us and the suspicious steamer. At 7.50 A. M. made out a side-wheel steamboat on our port beam, which afterward proved to be the transport Delaware, Capt. TILTON, from Stono Inlet, bound to Baltimore. In the course of an hour we left her some distance astern, she following in our course. At 8¾ A. M. sighted a large steamer on our port beam, steering to the southward, which afterwards proved to be the United States gunboat Grand Gulf. Upon seeing us in chase she altered her course and stood for the prize, but it was evident to all on board, as regards speed, she was no match for us or our game. At 9.05 A. M. Capt. WOTTON ordered our rifled gun to be trained upon the chase. Our gunner, Mr. CLIFFORD soon had a 20-pounder trundling after her. The line of the shot was good, but it fell short the mark. From this time until she hove to we continued firing at her, the shot going over and around her, also gradually widening the space between us and the Grand Gulf and nearing the chase, when after having fired sixteen shots and leaving our competitor far astern, the prize hove to. It now being 10.15 A. M., off Cape Lookout, a prize crew, in charge of the Chief officer, Mr. G. M. WALKER, and the Purser, were immediately sent on board after having transferred the crew and baggage of the prize on board the Fulton. Capt. WOTTON had two hawsers attached to the prize now known as the Banshee. At this juncture, the gunboat Grand Gulf and transport Delaware arrived off the prize. The Captain of the former sent his executive officer alongside the prize for the purpose of boarding her, but was refused admittance by Mr. WALKER (prize Captain,) who requested him to communicate with Capt. WOTTON, on board the Fulton, which he did, and very politely offered a prize crew, which was as politely declined by Capt. WOTTON. At 11.45 A. M. the Fulton proceeded on her course with the prize in tow.

The Banshee is a Clyde-built side-wheel steamer, built of steel, and about 316 tons, of a fine model and a beautiful outward appearance, one year old on the 20th inst., and had run the blockade eight times successfully. Her cargo consists of coffee, tobacco, dry goods, rope, &c.

The vessel is now lying at pier No. 36 North River. Her officers and crew, thirty-five in number, have been turned over to the United States Marshal.

The Russian Fleet.

A BUSY TIME YESTERDAY—PREPARATIONS TO DEPART, ETC.

The announcement that the Russian fleet was to leave the harbor yesterday, caused considerable excitement in naval circles, and a great number of United States naval officers, as well as several of our citizens, assembled on the Battery in the afternoon to witness the exit of the squadron. Indeed, a tug-boat, crowded to excess with spectators, was plying between the ships for several hours, conveying on board several of our citizens of Russian birth, and some distinguished Americans. All the forenoon each vessel of the fleet was a scene of unusual bustle. Meat, provisions, groceries, &c., were brought aboard in immense baskets. Several boats disputed the most convenient place to the ship's side. Washwomen came on in dozens with wash-clothes; and finally, several Russian and American citizens went on board to pay their respects—all these visitors tending to crowd the ships to such an extent that locomotion was rendered impossible. About 2 o'clock in the afternoon, however, it became apparent that the amount of business to be done was too great to enable the ships to go, and the Admiral determined to let them remain over night. Meantime, the bustle and excitement continued, and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon an entire squadron of "bum"-boats and runners' boats studded the stream. It is understood that two of the vessels will remain in the harbor—the Admiral's ship and another—and that the remainder of the squadron will leave. It is stated that Admiral PAULDING will send the Navy-yard tugboat, with naval officers on board, to escort the fleet out of the harbor.

Highway Robbery.

A NEW AND SUCCESSFUL PLAN.

A new and successful plan for highway robbery was initiated during the late political campaign by the thieves and murderers of the City. Quite a number of cases occurred wherein it was not only successful in the matter of robbery, but where the victims were very badly injured. The villains emboldened by their successes during riot week in attacking and robbing everybody whom they met, from whom they thought spoils could be secured, adopted the following ingenious plan. Five, six, sometimes more of them, would assemble in a body on the occasion of political parades, fall into the ranks and march along as part and parcel of the party; watching their chance for a victim, one of them would rush from the ranks and strike him as though he had offered an insult to the procession, and on the instant the others would spring to the assault; the man would be knocked down, beaten and robbed of all valuables about him in a moment, and the whole affair be considered as a "political row." Thus did these murderous scoundrels make the different parties the cloak for their villanies. They operated the same way at the different political meetings outside of Cooper Institute. It was a shrewd plan, and until recently was not developed to the Police authorities; so soon as known prompt measures were adopted to prevent it. "Political fights" are now considered synonymous with "highway robbery"—those engaged in them highwaymen. Processions hereafter will be so attended that this class of villains using them as a cloak will be promptly arrested. It would be well if the different parties would make a note of these facts, and on any occasion of a disturbance on the route of their marches, or at their meetings attribute it to the class of thieves mentioned, and promptly aid in their arrest. On one occasion, during the late canvass, a gentleman was knocked down and robbed on Broadway, badly beaten also, and yet despite his assertion of robbery, those who were really participants in the procession, and who crowded to the scene, were particularly excited against him because of the blatant assertion of the thieves that he had insulted the procession as it passed. Of course, had they known the fact they would have promptly turned upon and severely but justly punished the villains. Let them aid the Police in arresting and unmasking these highway robbers during the present local campaign, should they show themselves.

The Campbell and Keteltas Affray.

TESTIMONY GIVEN ON THE INQUEST ON THE BODY OF MISS CHARLOTTE CAMPBELL.

Upon application yesterday afternoon to Mr. District-Attorney HALL, reporters were allowed to examine the papers in the case of Miss CHARLOTTE CAMPBELL, the young lady who died at No. 11 East Thirtieth-street, on Tuesday evening of last week, under very mysterious circumstances, an account of which has appeared. The testimony in the case is quite brief. The following are the names of the gentlemen who composed the Jury of inquest at the time it was held by Coroner RANNEY, viz.: Isaac B. Conover, Henry Mathews, Samuel Reynolds, Bartholomew O'Conner, Dr. H. D. Ranney (brother of the Coroner) and Mr. Samuel D. Brettman, in whose house Miss C. died. The only witnesses whose testimony was taken were Mr. MALCOLM CAMPBELL, who is a brother of deceased, Mrs. Dr. BRETTMAN, whose house it is alleged the deceased was visiting at the time of her death, and Dr. WILSON PATTERSON, who was called in when it was discovered that the young lady was dying. The testimony in the case went to show that Miss CAMPBELL, the deceased, had been unwell for several weeks past, and that at times she seemed very nervous and melancholy. On the day preceding the evening of her death, she had been making preparations for a visit to Washington, which her physicians had recommended with a view to restore her health.

The verdict of the jury was that "the deceased came to her death by accidentally taking an overdose of laudanum." How, and under what circumstances the laudanum was taken does not appear in any portion of the testimony. Miss CAMPBELL was about 26 years of age, and was a native of this City.

Both MALCOLM and JAMES CAMPBELL have been held to bail to keep the peace in the sum of $1,000 each, in respect to Mr. KETELTAS, and this, it is reported, will be the end of the affair.

County Finances.

The following statement in regard to various special funds of the County Government has been obligingly furnished from the Comptroller's office:

RIOT DAMAGES—INDEMNITY FUND.

The amount of bonds issued is............$426,000 00
Amount of disbursements in statement of damages, including $199,700 paid to Geo. W. Farlee............297,349 74
Balance Nov. 23, 1863............$128,650 26

An additional amount of bonds will probably have to be assessed to provide the means required for the payment of riot damages.

SUBSTITUTE AND RELIEF FUND.

The amount of bonds assessed is............$946,700 00
Amount disbursed by the Supervisors' Committee............595,735 10
Balance Nov. 23............$350,964 90

The surplus of this fund is to be transferred to the "Soldiers' Substitute Bounty Fund," as stated below:

SOLDIERS' SUBSTITUTE BOUNTY FUND.

The unexpended balance of the "Substitute and Relief Fund" to be transferred to this account is, say............$350,964 90
Amount of Bonds thus far subscribed and paid for............47,300 00
Total............$398,264 00
Amount of disbursements from Bounties to Volunteers, at $300 each............42,000 00
Balance, Nov. 23............$356,264 00

It appears from the above statement that the "County Volunteer Committee, consisting of the Mayor and Comptroller, and Supervisors BLUNT, STEWART and TWEED, have a very handsome balance of cash on hand with which to begin operations this week. The time for procuring volunteers is getting short, and if a further draft is to be avoided a large amount of work must be performed. Meanwhile those who are disposed to help along the cause, and at the same time obtain desirable investments, can do so by calling at the Comptroller's Office and subscribing for the bonds to be issued for the purpose of furnishing the necessary means for paying the bounty offered.

NEWSBOYS' LODGING-HOUSE.—This institution commends itself to public sympathy. It works its way quietly, and, without ostentation, is doing a great deal of good for our poor City boys. During the past three months 8,588 lodgings have been furnished, 5,987 meals provided, and 62 placed in good situations. The boys make rapid progress, and are greatly improved in manners and morals. Some of them have excellent voices and love the sacred melodies taught them at the institution, and a delightful evening can be spent with them. Heretofore they have been cramped for room, but have recently been enabled to add another sleeping apartment, and will be able to receive all who apply for admission. The boys had no dinner last Thanksgiving; let them not be forgotten. The institution is located at No. 128 Fulton-street.

CHEER FOR THE POOR.—The Christian Alliance propose to give to the poor brought under its agency their annual Thanksgiving dinner on Thursday next. The plan is for a Committee of ladies and gentlemen to take it to worthy families known to be needy. After such families are supplied, the remainder to be taken to some of the most destitute localities in our City. Any one desirous of aiding this object may send their contributions to CHAS. FANNING, Esq., firm of HART & FANNING, Nos. 4 and 6 Burling-slip. Biscuit, sandwiches and other edibles will be gladly received on Wednesday at the rooms of the Alliance, University Building, Washington-square.

THE MATTER OF JOHN WHITE.—Mr. WHITE, an account of whose arrest as charged with various crimes was published on Monday, makes a statement that the whole report is incorrect, except in regard to his arrest in this City; he says that, on hearing he was then discharged, and alleges that the motive of the prosecution, on the subsequent arrest, is to make money, which he will show before the Courts. Meantime he wishes fair play and no prejudgment by the public.

What Acts Will Charge a Party, as Owner, for Repairs and Supplies for a Vessel.

SUPERIOR COURT—GENERAL TERM.

Before Justices Bosworth, Robertson and Monell.

Edward Weston et al. vs. James Wright et al.—On the 6th day of February, 1858, one James W. Phillips, of the City of New-York, conveyed to the defendant Wright, who resided in the State of Alabama, one fourth part of the ship Neptune's Car, by a bill of sale in the usual form, which was on the same day duly acknowledged and recorded in the office of the Collector of Customs of this port, pursuant to the act of Congress. The remaining three-fourths of the ship were owned by the other defendants—two of whom (owning one-half) were and had for a long time been ship's husbands.

The plaintiffs were assignees of certain claims against the ship for repairs and stores, and brought this action to make the defendant Wright responsible as joint owner.

Wright answers that he was only mortgage, out of possession of one fourth part of the ship, and as such, was not liable.

The plaintiffs claimed that where a party, having such an interest in a ship, as Wright had in this case, is notified of a voyage, and informed that unless he disclaims possession, he will be charged for repairs and expenses of the ship for the voyage, and supplying her therefor, he should be charged as joint owner in case he does not so disclaim ownership. It was alleged that the defendant Wright, was so notified in this case, and was silent.

The trial resulted in a verdict for the plaintiffs, and the defendant Wright appeared, contending that he was only a mortgage, out of possession, and as such, not liable.

Decision reserved.

J. T. Williams, for plaintiffs; Evarts, Southmayd and Choate, for defendant.

Violation of the Laws to Prevent Encroachments on the Harbor—Commodore Vanderbilt Sued for Penalties to Amount of Over $27,000.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM.

Before Justice Robertson.

The Board of Commissioners of Pilots vs. Cornelius Vanderbilt.—This action is brought by the Commissioners of Pilots against Commodore Vanderbilt under the act of 1860, by which authority was given plaintiffs to prevent encroachments upon the harbor of New-York, and to give notice to any person obstructing the harbor to remove such obstruction within a certain time, and providing that any person so notified who shall disobey such notice shall be liable to a penalty of $25 a day for each and every day that it shall remain after notice. Plaintiffs allege that in the year 1860 Commodore VANDERBILT entered upon the waters of New-York harbor, at a point south of Pier No. 1, and outside of the line recommended by the Commissioners, and built or put there an obstruction in the nature of a pier filled in with stone, the same being unauthorized by law and wholly without the exterior line. Plaintiffs notified defendant to remove said obstruction within five days, and such notification not being complied with, they bring this action to recover the penalty of $25 a day for each and every day from the 10th day of November, 1860, up to the day of trial. The defendant claims at the time of the Battery extension there was a small pier south of Pier No. 1, and inside of said Battery extension; that by a resolution of both branches of the Common Council defendant was authorized to build and extend said small pier parallel to Pier No. 1 as far as the exterior line of the proposed Battery extension; that by order of said resolution defendant sunk a crib filled with stone within the exterior line of the Battery extension; that before said pier was finished defendant was restrained by an injunction afterward made perpetual from proceeding with said structure, that all that he did was done under the authority of the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New-York, and defendant is not liable for the penalty; defendant further alleges that said obstruction was not outside the extreme line of the harbor fixed by law; that he had no recollection of receiving any such notice as that required by law. The amount of the penalties sought to be recovered, is over $27,000. A motion to dismiss the complaint was made on the ground of the insufficiency of the notice given to Mr. Vanderbilt, it being claimed that the notice had not been shown to be the act of the Board of Commissioners of Pilots, but only one of its members. Case still on.

Barney, Butler & Parsons for plaintiffs; W. C. Noyes and Mr. Rappalo for defendants.

Decisions.

MONDAY, Nov. 23—P. M.

The Weekly Averages of the Banks of the City of New-York, on Saturday, Nov. 21, 1863, present in the aggregate the following changes from the previous exhibit of Nov. 14:

Decrease in Loans	$5,342,102
Decrease in Specie	1,122,535
Increase in Circulation	26,416
Decrease in Undrawn Deposits	6,521,652

Including the Clearing-house operations of the week, which show the inter-exchanges between the Banks, and including also the Sub-Treasury balance at the close of the week, the following is the general comparison with the previous exhibit, and also with the movement this time last season:

	Nov. 22, 1862.	Nov. 21, 1863.	Nov. 14, 1863.
Capital	$69,128,000	$69,722,508	$69,722,508
Loans	176,589,397	176,702,428	182,044,530
Specie	38,110,216	28,054,514	29,177,049
Circulation	9,804,826	6,122,535	6,095,931
Gross Deposits	193,747,124	212,044,972	225,360,723
Exchanged	36,468,461	66,796,126	73,590,225
Undrawn	157,278,663	145,248,846	151,770,498
In Sub-Treasury	24,725,967	17,598,746	17,469,591

The marked feature of the Bank return this afternoon is the further heavy reduction of Loans and Discounts on a comparatively easy money market. The decrease on the Deposit line is not unexpected after the payments made on the balances standing to the credit of the United States Treasury on the negotiation of Sept. 3. The impression is that the Deposits and Country Bank balances, other than to the credit of the Government, are once more on the increase. However this may be, the whole Bank movement is fairly restored to ease. The Specie line is down about a million of dollars, after the payments for Customs last week of $1,627,000, and the shipment to Europe of $1,007,000. The shipments by the correspondents of the ROTSCHILDS to Mexico on French Government account and not cleared at the Custom-house, were not drawn from Bank last week. The Gold had been put up for shipment since ten days or two weeks. The Gold balances in the Sub-Treasury from Customs accumulated faster than the payments out for the November Interest on the Public Debt. The Banks and Treasury together hold about $37,500,000.

The market for Money is easy to the Stock Exchange to-day at 7 ℘ cent. The active upward movement in the Railway speculation creates a fair demand, while lenders outside of Bank have of late increased in number, and many of them are placing large sums at call with the Brokers at 7 ℘ cent., and in some instances, on first-class credits, at 6 ℘ cent.

There was a further general rise on the Railway speculation to-day. The extreme advance since Saturday was at one time 2@2½ ℘ cent. on New-York Central and Erie, and nearly as much on the other New-York Roads and on Reading and the Western lines. At the breaking up of the Second Board there was some abatement in the demand, and prices fell off on the prominent speculatives ½@1 ℘ cent. A large business was done at both sessions of the Board, while the sales of Erie, Central, &c., not registered, and made after the formal adjournment of the Boards, were unusually heavy. The Government Stocks were steady, and the State 6 ℘ cents of Missouri improved ½@1 ℘ cent. The fluctuations in Gold were not violent, but, upon the whole, rather against Saturday's last price, and Exchange on London was ¼@1 ℘ cent. easier, closing 167@167½ ℘ cent.

At 4 o'clock the general temper of the Railway market was completely reversed, and prices suddenly down to the leaving-off point on Saturday. The following quotations were made in comparison with Saturday night—the intermediate fluctuations being from 2 to 3 ℘ cent:

The excursionists on the opening of the Broad-gauge Extension of the Erie Route to Cleveland last week, who have returned to town, speak in the most glowing terms of the Atlantic and Great Western Road, and of their reception by the good people of Cleveland. The Cleveland Herald contains the response of Mr. W. EVANS of London, (the representative of the English interest in the Erie Board of Directors,) to the sentiment, expressive of international sympathy offered at the Railway Banquet in that City. If our space permitted we should copy the speech with great pleasure, as a just appreciation of the Credit and resources of this country, by this eminently practical Englishman.

Annexed is a statement of the business of the Reading Rail-road for the month of October:

	1863.	1862.
Received from Coal	$663,891 01	$353,168 92

Net profit previous 8 mo's.	2,351,173 89	1,529,960 13
Total net profit 10 mo's.	$2,878,942 70	$1,812,149 13

The Philadelphia Ledger of this morning remarks on the present extraordinary return of the Reading as follows:

"Here is an increase of $1,036,793 in the net profits of this Company for eleven months of the current fiscal year, over the corresponding time last year, and last year's profits over all expenses and interest were equal to about 11 ℘ cent. on all the Company's stock. The gross earnings of the month is $815,902 03, which is equal to $8,773 14 for each mile of the main line of the road in one month, the main trunk being 93 miles long. The business of the present month, which is the last of the fiscal year, will probably swell the net receipts for the year to about $3,400,000. We question whether there is a road in the world, of no greater length, that equals the revenues of the Reading."

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

The intelligence from East Tennessee is up to 11 o'clock of the morning of the 22d, and is important. Gen. BURNSIDE was still successfully holding Knoxville, and had assured the citizens that he would continue to do so. The rebel force was estimated at 36,000 strong. The rebels had withdrawn from the south side of the river. The artillery fighting on the 19th and 20th inst. was very severe. Brig.-Gen. SANDERS, who was wounded on the 19th, has since died.

From the Army of the Potomac we learn that the report of a movement yesterday was incorrect. No movement took place. The storm of Saturday had made the roads very bad, and wagon transportation heavy. LEE is said to be in expectation of an attack from MEADE, and was fully prepared. His works on the Rapidan were being enlarged and strengthened.

The news from Charleston harbor brought yesterday by the Fulton is somewhat more interesting than that which has lately come from that quarter, although Fort Sumter has not yet been taken, nor Charleston destroyed by Greek fire. On Tuesday last Gen. GILLMORE, for the third time, gave the city a foretaste of the judgment he is able to visit upon it by throwing twenty-one shells into the business portion of the place, nineteen of which exploded, doubtless causing a great deal of injury to property, if not to life. On Thursday he continued the bombardment by sending fifteen more of his destructive messengers right into the heart of the city, and not without destructive effect, if the sudden hoisting of a hospital flag by the rebels upon one of their prominent buildings be any indication. The firing against Fort Sumter is still continued, and the sea-wall of the work is said to be entirely destroyed, but that the rebels have still a hope of holding the ruins is pretty evident, if the report that they are constructing a bomb-proof in the midst of the wreck be correct. On Monday morning, the 16th, at an early hour, the enemy's batteries on Sullivan's and James Islands opened fire upon Fort Putnam, continuing the cannonading for an hour as furiously as possible. Their motive for this special and spasmodic piece of enterprise is not altogether clear, but they failed to hurt the garrison. On the same day that this incident happened an accident befell the monitor Lehigh, which for a time had a serious look. Engaged in night picket duty, she ventured too near the beach of Sullivan's Island, and, grounding, was left by the ebbing tide to the tender mercies of Fort Moultrie. At daybreak, a brisk fire was aimed against her by the rebels from Moultrie, Beauregard and the water batteries on Sullivan's Island, to which she replied. Not being able unaided to extricate herself, three other monitors went to the rescue, and with great difficulty she was finally got afloat, after an entire morning's labor under a heavy fire, which was kept up briskly by both sides. Five or six of the crew of the Lehigh were wounded, as well as the Captain and Executive officer, and the injuries to the vessel required that she should go to Port Royal for repairs.

The United States steam transport Fulton, Capt WOTTON, from Port Royal the 20th inst., arrived yesterday. She brings in tow the prize steamer Banshee, captured by her off Wilmington on the 21st, after a chase of less than four hours. This is the third vessel taken by the Fulton. The Banshee is a side-wheel steamer, Clyde built, 316 tons burden, and has on board a valuable cargo of merchandise.

The Port Royal New South says that Gen. GILLMORE has removed the restrictions which he some time since placed upon the sale of lands for unpaid direct taxes in his Department. The sale of these lands by auction was fixed for Dec. 1.

The rebels will not allow any relief agents to visit Richmond to administer to our prisoners.

FROM EUROPE.

By the arrival of the America at this port yesterday, we have European files three days later than those previously received. The proposed Congress engrosses much attention. The Queen had received an autograph letter from the Emperor NAPOLEON on the subject, and the Cabinet was to consider the answer on the 17th. The proposition had been addressed to fifteen Governments, and it was rumored that Prussia and Austria were favorable to the proposal. Italy had already responded. Lord PALMERSTON'S speech at the Guildhall banquet was remarkable for nothing in particular. He said, among other things, "that the combatants are slaughtering each other by hundreds of thousands, and carrying on a contest, the result of which it is impossible to foresee, and the end of which now, after more than two years' duration, he would be a bold man indeed, who would venture to predict." No change had yet been made in the French Embassy at St. Petersburgh. The Liberal Press of Italy unanimously applaud the Emperor's speech. The Emancipation Society of Glasgow had memorialized the Foreign Office, with reference to the rebel steamer Canton, building at that place, and a favorable reply had been received.

GENERAL NEWS.

There was a large and brilliant gathering at the New-England Rooms last evening, to celebrate the anniversary of the Soldiers' Relief Association. Speeches were made by Maj.-Gen. SICKLES, Rev. Dr. OSGOOD, Prof. HITCHCOCK and Rev. Dr. VINTON. Mr. WM. M. EVARTS presided. The Superintendent's report exhibited an immense amount of good accomplished by the Association on very limited resources, and the Treasurer's report showed the necessity of increased efforts to aid the institution on the part of its friends and the public.

The first annual meeting of the "Rose Hill Ladies' Soldiers' Relief Association" was held in the Collegiate Dutch Church, corner of Twenty-ninth-street and Fifth-avenue, last evening. Some interesting addresses were made by clergymen present, the annual report of the Association being placed before the audience by the Pastor of the Church, Rev. J. T. DURYEA. The Treasurer's report showed the receipts of the Association to be $3,409, and the expenditures $2,074, leaving a balance in the Treasurer's hands of $1,335.

The County Canvassers concluded their labors yesterday by making a declaration of results, and ordering their statement to be published in the TIMES and a few other papers. The vote for MCCUNN is declared to be 32,550; for BOSWORTH, 32,501; MCCUNN'S majority, 49.

Neither Board of the Common Council had a quorum yesterday at their respective meetings, and probably neither Board will transact any business till after the Charter election, which takes place a week from to-day.

Brig.-Gen. W. P. SANDERS, wounded at Campbell's Station, Tenn., on the 17th, is reported dead. He was a graduate of West Point, and was Senior Captain of the Sixth Regular cavalry He served throughout the Peninsular campaign, and was afterward appointed Colonel of the Fifth Ohio cavalry, and was subsequently made Brigadier-General of Volunteers, for gallant conduct in East Tennessee. He entered West Point from Mississippi, under the patronage of JEFF. DAVIS, who befriended him in difficulties at the Academy. But SANDERS remained thoroughly loyal, a noble example of a Southern officer in the regular army deaf to the allurements of treason.

The rebels say they have almost nothing wherewith to feed the Union prisoners at Richmond, yet the Common Council of that city has just voted $60,000 to buy a house for Gen. LEE.

The cattle trade was lively at Forty-fourth-street, yesterday, and nearly all of the 3,700 head yarded were sold. Good cattle commanded 10c. @10½c. ₩ lb., and 11c. if really prime More cattle brought the top price this week, which is equivalent to an advance of ½c. on the best cattle. Common and poorer grades sold no better than last week. Government agents bought freely, and the prospect for Tuesday buyers is slim, unless there are fresh arrivals.

Flour and Wheat were in fair demand yesterday, the former at somewhat firmer prices. Corn was much dearer, but not active. A lively business was transacted in Oats at decidedly higher rates, as also in Provisions and Whisky at irregular prices. A fair inquiry prevailed for Rio Coffee, Bale Hay, New Hops, Laths, Lumber, Tallow, Wool and East India Rice. Cotton was quiet and depressed. Limited freight engagements were effected.

There was increased buoyancy on the Stock Exchange yesterday. The Railways sold 2@2½ ₩ cent. higher than on Saturday, but fell off late in the day, after the Second Board. The price of Gold and rates of Exchange ½@1 ₩ cent. easier. Money in good supply at 7 ₩ cent.

The Army of the Potomac.

It is to-day affirmed and denied that the Army of the Potomac is once more on the move, and the furnishing with which it is said to have started—ten days' provisions—would indicate serious business. The first part of the business will, of course, be to find LEE and his force and give them battle. As we have no information as to the present position of the rebels, all attempts to reason on the subject are vain. We rest under the belief, however, that a vigorous march on the part of Gen. MEADE toward Richmond will bring up LEE somewhere in front of him. Indeed, the latest rumors place LEE's army at Hanover Junction, midway between Fredericksburgh and Richmond. It is at least not improbable that his right rests at that point, where the railroad from Gordonsville, occupied by the rebels in force, crosses the Fredericksburgh and Richmond road; and it is not unlikely that in the event of Richmond being menaced, he will draw in on the position named, to contest the passage of the North and South Anna Rivers.

The nature of the coming operations will, of course, depend very much on the amount of force Gen. LEE has now in hand. On this point, again, we are quite in the dark. If strong enough to attempt an advance himself, a menace Washingtonwards would bring our army back to cover that place; at least it has always done so hitherto. But if his strength has really been depleted by further detachments sent to the Southwest, he will doubtless confine himself to obstructing Gen. MEADE's advance as energetically as possible. The rebel commander has rare resources for work of this kind, and he may feel quite capable of keeping MEADE back long enough to receive reinforcements from Tennessee.

The one chance for a brilliant and decisive campaign at this season lies in Gen. MEADE's ability to make a rapid, bold and even somewhat venturesome advance. The distance from Fredericksburgh to Richmond is sixty miles—three days' march. The moment he crosses the Rapidan, the fortified heights of Fredericksburgh are turned, and he has then only two streams of any considerable magnitude—the North and South Anna, and these he can pass at points where they present little or no obstacle.

Without attempting to speculate, however, we can only say that the task, such as it is, lies before Gen. MEADE, and that the whole nation will be rejoiced to learn that he has entered upon it, and will follow his onward march with hopes and prayers. There is abundant opportunity for glory to the commander and to his noble army. Let us have a grand campaign therefore—rapid, energetic, audacious. Gen. MEADE has thus far shown excellent qualities, and especially a rare persistency and prudence. We would fain see him rise still higher, and add to these the loftier quality of audacity, of daring. The nation is hungry for the inspiration of great deeds. We believe the Army of the Potomac capable of them, capable of anything men ever did. How gladly would the whole nation see that army justify all that we know of it by reaching in triumph that aim which, thrice attempted, has only served to show the most splendid valor borne down by the buffets of misfortune.

THE LETTER OF JOHN M. BOTTS.—The caustic letter of JOHN M. BOTTS to the Richmond Examiner, shows that that gentleman's intellect remains clear amid the confusion and desolation that surround him. BOTTS is not a confessor after the style of Parson BROWNLOW or ANDREW JOHNSON, who hurls defiance at the rebels from the soil which they claim. Nor does he desire to become a refugee from his native State, and operate actively against the rebellion, as so many noble southerners have done. But while residing upon a debateable ground which is alternately within the lines of one and the other army, and which is continually haunted by guerrillas, he does not fail to maintain a certain kind of indifference, and does not scruple to lay bare with a skillfully handled knife, some of the foul and fetid sores of the Southern Confederacy. He undoubtedly occupies ground, morally as well as physically, which is eminently precarious to his own person. It is very likely that the rebel authorities may make some of the charges he mentions in his letter, a pretext for seizing him and depriving him of his liberties, as they have done before. It is well that Mr. BOTTS does not succumb before the rebellion; but it would be better if his Unionism, if such it may be called, were of a more positive type, and that then his farm, or at least himself, were safe within the Union lines.

The Kentucky Governor on Loyalty.

GOV. BRAMLETTE, of Kentucky, was solicited by the friends of Gov. SEYMOUR to deliver speeches in this State during the late canvass. At first it was understood that he consented; but subsequently the arrangement fell through, and a reason was assigned for it that evidently was given merely to save appearances. We will not say that it was discovered that Gov. BRAMLETTE could do Gov. SEYMOUR no good, but if anybody doubts that Gov. SEYMOUR would have caught a Tartar, let him learn how the Kentuckian serves Copperheads at home.

One of the species takes Gov. BRAMLETTE to task for the earnestness and vehemence of his late call for volunteers in response to the Proclamation of the President. He winds up his protest with the stereotype Copperhead form, "I have always been a Union man, and am still, but I cannot, and never will, indorse the present programme of the war at present, which I think leads to the utter demolishment of the old Union." That is precisely the talk which Gov. SEYMOUR and his party in this State have been employing for the last eighteen months, and through which they have justified all their efforts to embarrass the Administration and balk the war.

The Kentucky Governor turns upon this cant with intensest scorn. He scouts a Unionism whose horizon is bounded by "my nigger." He says that "the plain, simple question, in spite of 'nigger' and 'no nigger,' is—Shall our Government be saved or destroyed?" He avows that the destruction of Slavery may be a result of this war seems now a strong probability; but such is not the object. He asseverates that "it was the rebels who made the war," and that when the rebels are put down the war will end. He frankly says that he does not approve of all "the measures adopted and policies advocated," but with great force adds: "I recognize no patriotism that hesitates in duty upon a plea that somebody else intends to do wrong;" and he finishes his unfortunate correspondent with the burning words:

> "I must, therefore, stand by my Government, to maintain its life and preserve our nationality, though fortunes be wrecked, life be sacrificed, and institutions be destroyed in the sweep of rebellion. That nationality preserved, I can shout as my eyes pierce the smoke of battle, and my head is lifted above the waves of rebellion—I am an American citizen. This, to me, is above all price—an inheritance which earth's hidden treasures cannot buy. I part with it only with life, and shall leave the injunction upon my children to fight on for its preservation till it be secured beyond the reach of treason and rebellion. I act in concert with those who would preserve, not destroy my Government."

It is very plain that Gov. BRAMLETTE was not the man to advance the fortunes of Gov. SEYMOUR. His Union sentiments are exactly identical with those which the Union party of this State adopted at its convention, and on which it conducted its canvass from beginning to end. To have brought Gov. BRAMLETTE here to help the SEYMOUR party to success, would have been just about as absurd as to detail Unconditional Surrender GRANT to lead BRAGG to victory.

Kentucky, from motives very natural in her peculiar case, was the last State to give up the hope of a reconciliation, and the last to take up arms against the rebellion. But since she has joined the battle, she has vied with the foremost in vigor. In spite of all the drain that was made upon her young men for the rebel armies through the treachery of BUCKNER, she has maintained in the field nearly, if not quite, her full quota; and no soldiers have fought with firmer determination. No State Legislature has passed severer enactments against disloyalty than Kentucky. No State Governor has issued war appeals more earnest or more unqualified than Gov. BRAMLETTE, whom the people elected to his place by a majority of over fifty thousand. In fact, it cannot be denied that the Slave State of Kentucky is really more engrossed in the prosecution of this war than almost any Free State. It is all natural, perhaps, that this should be so. Kentuckians have a double incentive of fighting both for their flag and their homes. She has had a practical experience of the infernal malignity of the rebellion such as has fallen to the lot of no other loyal States; and it is not strange that the hatred of it should have a corresponding intensity.

But still we cannot withhold the tribute of our admiration of the contrast presented by this Slave State against the leaders of a great party in the Free States who make the war policy of the Administration against Slavery a reason for their policy against the war. Kentucky owns slaves, and yet, whether Slavery is destroyed or not, stands resolutely by the old flag. These Northern Copperheads own no slaves, and yet, because Slavery is threatened with destruction, are willing to let the old flag go down to the dust. Kentucky, with a pecuniary interest in the institution amounting to nearly one hundred millions of dollars, is ready to sacrifice it all, if need be, for the salvation of the Union; while these Northern factionists would let everything go by the board sooner than give up a single predilection. Now of two things one: either Kentucky is very stupid, or these Copperhead leaders are very wicked. If there is anything in the argument that the Anti-Slavery measures of the Administration justify opposition to the war, Kentucky should be the very State of all the loyal States to see it, and yet she does not see it. If there is nothing in that argument, then the Northern men who use it in prejudice to the war, seek to blind the people, and are truly public enemies.

British Barbarity.

Events every now and then occur in almost all countries, which reveal the very superficial nature of modern civilization and humanity. The wild animal in human society which has been so long domesticated that we had almost forgotten its existence, suddenly shows its claws and fangs. The barbaric blood which ethnologists tell us still betrays itself in the most refined stocks, unexpectedly reveals itself to the world in some terrible acts of ferocity and cruelty. In many of these instances we are not surprised. When the New-York mob hangs innocent boys and men and burns asylums, we see that such are the natural fruits of long ages of oppression, destitution and ignorance in the Old World, which we, in the New, must reap. When the Southern officers deliberately insult and starve our unfortunate prisoners, we see that this is the legitimate result of Slavery, and that nothing else ought to be expected. Even the blowing of Hindoo rebels from British cannon, though it shocks, does not so much astound us, because we remember the atrocities which had roused up the baser passions of the English soldiery. But there are actions at times which seem to thrill the pulse of all mankind with horror, and which call forth an instinctive cry of condemnation from every civilized people. Especially is this the case where the connivers and perpetrators have been holding themselves up as the especial guardians of civilization, and have been preaching for a long period with holy indignation against trivial offences, committed by their neighbors.

The crime, which is to stand forever as almost first on the black list of fearful cruelties committed by the strong against the weak, is the recent burning and shelling of an unprepared Japanese city, containing 180,000 inhabitants, against whom there was no war, by the British Admiral. It will be remembered that for some time the English Ministry have been seeking "to introduce civilization" into the Island of Japan. In the course of their humane and disinterested efforts, a certain Englishman was assassinated. The British Admiral and Chargé d'Affaires attempted to obtain satisfaction, and a Japanese Prince residing in Kagosima was required to deliver up his own father, (the supposed murderer,) and to pay a heavy fine. The Envoys returned for reply that the offender was fifty miles in the interior. Admiral KUPER answered, with a characteristic threat, that Kagosima should be destroyed if the guilty person were not given up. To obtain the satisfaction demanded, one of the British Captains was ordered to cut out some Japanese steamers lying in the harbor. This was done successfully, and the steamers were burnt, which might have been considered a reasonable satisfaction for the murder of one individual. But in the course of these proceedings the British ships, as might have been expected, were fired into from the shore batteries; the squadron returned the fire, but not being able to withstand it, retreated to another side of the bay, and on their withdrawal shelled and fired the city. On the next day, the Admiral, finding that he could do nothing with the batteries, ordered the Havoc to fire the junks and public buildings adjoining, which was done, he states, "in the most satisfactory manner." The wind blew a hurricane, and the fires thus lit from various quarters began to rage most furiously through the city. But no sign of yielding showed itself in the batteries, and the gallant Admiral, finding he could not silence them, withdrew from their dangerous fire, and took his manly revenge by throwing shells into the fiery furnace of the unfortunate city, under the pretext of "shelling the palace of the Prince in Kagosima." That is, a British Admiral and Chargé d'Affaires, without warning or sign being made, deliberately set fire to and shelled a city of 180,000 inhabitants, containing men, women and children, and built of paper and wood, after they had been unable, in fair combat, to silence the protecting batteries of the town, and when they had with the unhappy city not the slightest cause or provocation of war!

There is no more reason to suppose that Kagosima had anything to do with Mr. RICHARDSON's murder than San Francisco. And if the English were obliged to obtain satisfaction from the Prince, the burning of his navy was surely enough.

To shell any large town is terrible enough, but to burn and shell an Oriental town, which will blaze like tinder, without giving time for the escape of women and children, or the sick and infirm, under no provocation or proclamation of war, is something sickening and horrible beyond expression.

Fancy the sick and delicate women, the babes, the blind, the lame, the aged, the bedridden, all burning, without possibility of escape, in this fiery furnace; the shrieks, the wailings, the curses that rise from the helpless and the tortured in this seething cauldron; picture the walls of fire on every side, the shells bursting and tearing the buildings and scattering the limbs and dissevered fragments of the wretched women and children, and all this scene of human agony and hellish revenge going on for two days and nights! This is the British introduction of civilization into Japan! And for this awful and more than barbarous crime against humanity a British Parliament will probably thank the gallant Admiral, and under the light of that conflagration the British Ministry will be able to remonstrate with our Government, with pious horror, at the next sinking of ships in our own rebellious harbors.

AN ARMY SWINDLER FITLY PUNISHED.—The sentence of JOHN K. STETLER, of Philadelphia, by Court-martial, to five years' imprisonment in the penitentiary for supplying the army with adulterated coffee is the first instance, we believe, of any account, of the practical enforcement of the law which passed Congress last year, making such frauds on the army penal, and triable by Court-martial. Though the good work has commenced late, we trust that it will now be followed up with the sternest rigor. The amount of iniquity of this nature which has been practiced upon our soldiers is beyond calculation. In the early part of the war it was the most rampant evil affecting the service, and though it has been largely reduced since, it still prevails to a scandalous extent. So long as the system of opening contracts to general competition is maintained—and it is the only correct system—dishonest men will often get contracts, and no plan of inspection, however well devised, can of itself always insure against fraudulent supplies. The amount to be inspected is too vast to admit of minute examination; and moreover, even were this otherwise, the urgency of the demand is often too great to allow time for it. No management for detection can alone remedy the evil; there must also be management for prevention. The severe penal act passed by Congress was just what was needed. It enabled the army to protect itself by subjecting every contractor without exception to military law. We have thought it strange that this power has not been more frequently exercised. The present sentence we hope is an earnest of a new order of things.

Treason is a capital offence. The disabling or harassing of the military service by defrauding it, at a period when everything depends upon its efficiency, is no better than treason. There is no difference either in principle or in effect, between furnishing aid and comfort to the enemy in the shape of direct supplies to them, and giving them aid and comfort by impairing our own supplies. A rebel, carried away from duty to his country by some mistaken sense of wrong, may, after all, deserve to be pitied more than abhorred, and receive forgiveness. But the self-styled loyalist, who puts money in his purse at the expense of the soldiers who go to fight rebels, is worthy only of unqualified detestation, and no fate can be too severe for him. Our prison doors gape for just such knaves. Hustle them in.

The Business Management of the New-York Central Railroad.

The great question at issue between the shareholders in the New-York Central, and its officers, is this: Shall such officers, who are only the servants of the owners of the road, be held to the rules which are essential to success, not only on all similar works, but in every relation of responsibility and trust—rules which forbid the use of position or occasion for personal advantage or emolument: or shall such servants be an exception, and be allowed to prostitute their places to their own personal and selfish ends?

It would be supposed that such a question need only be asked to be instantly answered; and that the public conviction would, with almost equal promptitude, secure the proper reform. Yet, so far from this being the case on the Central, we find that the worst abuses that can possibly exist upon a railroad, have been tolerated in the management of this, till sufferance has ripened in the minds of its managers, at least, into prescriptive right.

Mr. CORNING has, time out of mind, almost, served this Company not so much as its President as its supply agent; the former position is regarded as valuable simply for the advantage it secures to him in the latter capacity—the one is completely sunk in the other. What is the duty of the chief executive of a railroad? Is it not that of a check upon the cupidity and misconduct of all his subordinates? He is commander-in-chief, and is responsible for the faithful conduct of all below him. It is his duty to see that the parties charged with the purchase of rails, ties, wood, &c., &c., for the road, are vigilant in the execution of their trusts, and particularly to see that they do not purchase of themselves. Such a dereliction of duty as this last would instantly raise such a presumption of fraud as to warrant the immediate removal of the offender. The chief officer of a company only discharges his duty when there is a perfect harmony between theory and practice in the working of its road, and when there is no opportunity for dishonesty or incompetency, or shirking. When he does not come up to this standard, or incapacitates himself by practicing that which it is his duty to prohibit in others, he should be removed from the position he has shown himself incompetent to fill.

This is what we demand in the case of Mr. CORNING. As President of the road, he is no match for Mr. CORNING, the merchant and supply agent. Suppose the two to meet for the purchase, for example, of rails. These Mr. CORNING manufactures at his extensive works at Troy. On the one hand, every motive is touched that can influence the heart, save the consideration of duty. We need not be told that one is as strong as the chain of fate; that the other is a rope of sand. Men are not reformers, or idealists, or sentimentalists in matters of trade. If they were, there would not, in three months, be a merchant that was solvent. As a rule, it is the part of a man in business to make the best bargain he can. Mr. CORNING is not the exception to the rule. He has been wise in his generation. He is the architect of a vast fortune, and works to make money. This is his business in life. For this purpose he maintains so tenaciously his relations to the Central road. Other men would do the same if they could. We need not suppose him to be more grasping than the run of mankind to get a clue to his conduct. As the road has been the source of no small portion of his fortune, it is natural that he should cling to the one with as much eagerness as he holds on to the other—soliciting proxies of uninformed and unwary shareholders; imposing upon the public by lofty pretensions of integrity and honor, too lofty and pure to be questioned, and dexterously baffling all attempts to inquire into or investigate the management of the concern.

Against all such charges, Mr. CORNING cannot raise a finger. The recent whitewashing at Albany does not attempt one word in defence of his position. This would not be tolerated upon a single road, nor in a single official position in the United States, save upon the Central. So long as he remains the supply agent, just so long he shuts his eyes and mouth to any abuse that his subordinates may indulge in. All they have to do in vindication of their conduct is to point to his own. The shareholders, consequently, are without any guardian of their interests. Who is to check Mr. CORNING as contractor? Not Mr. CORNING as President, for had he, as a man, a proper sense of his duties and responsibilities he would never have merged both functions in one person. He cannot serve God and Mammon. If he attempts it, it is not difficult to tell who gets the real service.

Again: Mr. CORNING assumes to discharge the duties of the office of President of the road only for a portion of the year. He is a devoted politician, and has just served four years in Congress. The attendance upon his duties at Washington consumed more than one half of his time. For two years his Superintendent was his colleague. Now, are men who devote their lives to politics competent to properly conduct the affairs of the greatest and most expensive road in the United States? Does not the management of such a concern require all the labor and attention of those having it in charge? Where 5,000 men are employed, and $20,000 daily disbursed in expenses, is there not something in all this requiring the constant oversight of the chief officers of the road? With the best discharge of their duties will there not be much that will be overlooked or wasted? Do not those who conduct our best managed roads feel this to be the case? Do they not in every instance, with the exception of the Central, devote their whole time and energies to their proper duties? Are Mr. MARSH, Mr. SLOAN, Mr. CASS, or Mr. THOMPSON, gadding all over the country to attend political conventions, or spending half of their time hundreds of miles from the scene of their duties in attending sessions of Congress? Is there one of these gentlemen that would not feel that such absence from their places would be fatal to the prosperity of the works they had in charge? Would not they consider such a palpable neglect of duty as a great public scandal? Would not the public so consider it? Would not the railroad property of the country sink in value, and even be threatened with total destruction should those intrusted with its management take up the trade of politician, no matter on which side? Most assuredly it would. Why then not apply the corrective to the first instance of a great abuse? The longer this is delayed, the greater the danger and the more difficult the remedy. In discussing these matters, we do not deal with private character, but official duties. The subject is a most legitimate and proper one. The offences complained of are great outrages upon public right. They are not denied in the slightest degree—only sought to be perpetuated by the most unscrupulous and unwarranted means. They are examples which, unless speedily checked, will become contagious and incurable. We might greatly enlarge the catalogue if we chose. In the case of the Central it will be easy to show that the effect of the abuses practiced upon it have had their proper and legitimate influence in diminishing the net earnings of the road.

AMUSEMENTS.

NIBLO'S GARDEN.—Mr. and Mrs. BARNEY WILLIAMS commenced their Metropolitan engagement here last evening. The house was densely crowded, and the reception bestowed on these favorite artists was in the highest degree flattering. Three capital pieces were on the programme, the most important being the "Fairy Circle"—a closely knit little drama, filled with picturesque effects and displaying the peculiar merits of Mr. and Mrs. BARNEY WILLIAMS to decided advantage. The piece will be remembered by their patrons. It has been played frequently, and always to the acceptance of the public. On the present occasion it gained new interest from the very generous way in which it has been placed upon the stage by Mr. WHEATLEY. The scenery and costumes are both excellent. Some of the best names of Mr. WHEATLEY's company appear in the cast. Miss ADA CLIFTON made a small part interesting, and Mr. SHEWELL gave importance to the character of Robert O'Niel.

The performances concluded with the comedietta the "Customs of the Country," (in which Mrs. WILLIAMS plays an uproarious Yankee part,) and the screaming farce called "Pat's Blunder." These pieces will be repeated to-night.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—On Wednesday next GOUNOD's opera of "Faust" will be produced for the first time in New-York. It is an important event, which will attract the most brilliant audience of the season. The mise-en-scene will be perfect; neither trouble nor expense has been spared by Mr. MARETZEK in placing this great work before the public.

THEATRE FRANCAIS.—MASSE's charming operetta, "Les Noces des Jeannette," will be the principal attraction here to-night. There is a fair débutant who will claim the suffrages of the public, a sturdy German, who will woo them with music, and last but by no means least, the worthy manager himself M. PAUL JUIGNET, who intends making his bow to the happy family that he provides for so liberally.

IRVING HALL.—Mr. DE CORDOVA will give the third lecture of his course to-night; the subject is "Shoddy;" and will, we are sure, be treated in a vigorous and humorous manner.

McCunn Elected.

The Board of County Canvassers met at noon yesterday, and officially declared JOHN H. MCCUNN elected, his majority being forty-nine votes; Mr. GARVIN, also elected, has a majority over MCCUNN of nearly 5,000 votes.

The following is the official return:

Whole number of votes	139,714
Garvin	37,448	White	24,387
McCunn	32,550	Schmidt	3,752
Bosworth	32,501	Scattering	76

The Board having concluded their duties ordered the official canvass to be published, and adjourned.

A Deserter Shot at.

About 1½ o'clock this morning some stir was created in the vicinity of Nassau and Beekman streets by the report of pistol-shots. A deserter, whose name was not ascertained, attempted to escape from the Provost Guard, in whose charge he was. Three shots were fired at the fleeing fugitive, sundry policemen's billies hurled at him, without harm; but he was finally captured at the corner of Spruce and William streets—a whole man, and may serve for a target in the army of the Potomac in future.

CATARRH CURED.

NEW-YORK, Aug. 23, 1863.

I have been suffering for the last three years from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery and very painful. My nostrils were continually obstructed with a pouring of fluid. I have had frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, generally attended with spitting, often with a fullness of my throat, together with a soreness and a dropping. Dr. VON EISENBERG has cured me of all these disagreeable sufferings. I now feel a new life. The treatment of Dr. VON EISENBERG is as skillful as it is successful; it is impossible to overrate the benefit I have received at his hands. I heartily recommend any one suffering like myself to place themselves under Dr. VON EISENBERG's care, with a certainty of being speedily cured. I give this with gratitude and pleasure. I cannot forbear again saying that my voice, which was hoarse and thick when I applied to Dr. VON EISENBERG, is now clear and good; indeed, I feel abundantly satisfied.

JAMES LITTLE,
No. 245 7th-st., New-York.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 8.

I have been suffering for years past from a severe Catarrh, with a great heaviness over my eyes, with a severe depression, great uneasiness, and pain in my head, great difficulty in breathing, and a continual accumulation in my nostrils, which gave me restless nights for several years. I have consulted several physicians, who pronounced me to be consumptive. What I suffered for so long a time is indescribable. My system was entirely disarranged and greatly debilitated. I not only felt weak, but I had a cloud continually before my eyes, and my ears were so affected that I was threatened with a total loss of hearing. I must say, I think, I was guided by Providence to come to Dr. Von Eisenberg, who not only cured me of my Catarrh by removing an astonishing quantity of disagreeable matter from my head, but he restored me to perfect health, a blessing I have not enjoyed for many years. Now I enjoy a good night's rest, and pursue my business with comfort. I must acknowledge that Dr. Von Eisenberg's mild and scientific treatment for Catarrh deserves the highest commendation, as the principle which directs his system of curing Catarrh is such as to render success certain.

JAMES FURLONG, No. 556 2d-av.

NO. 134 ALLEN-ST., NEW-YORK, Feb. 9, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.

JOHN TAYLOR.

NEW-YORK, July 19, 1862.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with coagulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.

CARROLL J. POST, No. 28 South-st.

SIGHT RESTORED.

JUNE 25, 1863.

My daughter brought me to Dr. VON EISENBERG almost completely blind in both eyes. I could not bear the pain nor the light. I am completely cured by Dr. VON EISENBERG, and called now to express my gratitude to the Doctor for his skill and unremitting attention, by which I recovered one of the most precious senses to me after being deprived of it for four years. It is only due to Dr. VON EISENBERG to state that I have tried several physicians in vain. I shall be happy to bear personal testimony to Dr. VON EISENBERG's unrivaled success to any lady or gentleman who will call on me.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.
READ.

NEW-YORK, March 20, 1863.

"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great tightness of the chest and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hope of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment, as he has shown in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured."

"IN HOC VINCES."

ROMAINE'S CRIMEAN BITTERS.

This invaluable preparation was first used in (a modified form in FRENCH ARMY HOSPITALS, during the late Crimean War (hence its name), and also to a considerable degree in private practice, when its efficacy was demonstrated not only as a preventive of disease incident to camp life, but as an efficient

TONIC AND ALTERATIVE.

Previous to its introduction to the American Public, the proprietors, beside subjecting it to the same tests here as those to which it had been subjected to abroad, also submitted it for examination as well as recombination to two of our most distinguished Analytical Chemists, viz: Professor JAMES R. CHILTON and JULIUS G. POHLE, whose certificate, which follows, will assure the most skeptical of its great medicinal virtues:

NEW-YORK, Feb. 14, 1862.

From a knowledge of the ingredients and their proportions entering into the composition known as "Romaine's Crimean Bitters," we are enabled to speak of it in terms of high commendation. CALISAYA or Peruvian Bark being one of its principal constituents, together with Herbs, Roots, and Extracts having decided medicinal properties, we have no hesitation in recommending it to physicians and the public generally, as an invigorating Tonic, intended to stimulate the digestive organs.

From its alterative properties, it is calculated to prevent, by its daily use in moderate quantities, CONSTIPATION, FEVER AND AGUE, mild forms of NEURALGIA AND RHEUMATISM. It is an antidote to the effects produced by the change of water and diet, correcting DIARRHŒA, curing DYSPEPSIA, COLIC, SICK AND NERVOUS HEADACHE, NAUSEA, SEA-SICKNESS. It is expressly adapted to females of delicate constitutions, and the infirmities of age.

The preparation is composed exclusively of vegetable materials, containing no metallic or mineral substances whatever. Its taste is aromatic, warming, and acceptable to palate and stomach.

JAMES R. CHILTON, M. D.
JULIUS G. POHLE, M. D.

Subsequently, the Assistant-Surgeon of the U. S. Hospital at Newark, N. J., at our request administered it to a large number of invalid soldiers, and the result after several months' trial, fully justified our anticipations as to its tonic and restorative properties. In addition, it effected a cure, in a brief time, of several inveterate cases of which had defied the usual remedy of Quinine.

FEVER AND AGUE,

Some time since the formula or list of ingredients was submitted to

SURGEON-GENERAL HAMMOND, U. S. A.,

who expressed his unqualified approbation of the combination, in addition to which

SURGEONS OF THE UNITED STATES ARMY, in various localities, with many others, from personal trials, have rendered written and verbal testimonials, confirming beyond doubt its remarkable general medicinal properties.

AS AN EXHILARATING TONIC,

our compound is the perfection of Chemical and Medical Art, as by its alterative properties it prevents constipation, and though it highly exhilarates,

NO DROWSY OR STUPEFYING REACTION FOLLOWS.

In this regard we CHALLENGE THE WORLD to equal it. Here lies the objection, even if there were no others, against the use of other Exhilarant Bitters known to us, that they one and all excite the brain for a brief time, then a dull, sleepy state ensues, thus rendering them unfit for the sick and convalescent, the student, and those of all other sedentary occupations, as well as exciting an inordinate appetite for ardent spirits. Those who have used the Crimean Bitters for months uniformly declare the above to be true, and among them are CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, and STUDENTS, whose names and post-office address will be given to any who will call at our office.

Our Mr. Chilton has had long experience in the purchase and sale of drugs in this City, and from his thorough knowledge of medical science, and the art of compounding, the public is assured that none but the purest materials will be used, and in all respects the present high standard will not be departed from.

Every day adds to the many testimonials we have received from Army Surgeons. Physicians and others who have tested its virtues, some of which will be published hereafter.

Put up in quart bottles, securely packed in cases of one dozen each. Directions for use accompany each bottle. All orders promptly executed.

NEW-YORK CENTRAL RAILROAD.

The undersigned stockholders in the New-York Central Railroad, feeling deeply interested in a reform of the management of said Road, respectfully recommend all holders of stock who cannot be themselves present at the ensuing election of Directors, to send their proxies to Thomas W. At some time previous to that day a meeting will be called of all the stockholders who may thus send them their proxies, for the nomination of a Board of Directors, or whom their votes will be cast.

The undersigned respectfully suggest that the interest of stockholders will be better secured by thus placing their proxies in the hands of disinterested and well known gentlemen, such as those named above, than by submitting them to the present officers of the Road, to be used in securing their own reëlection.

U. S. CHRISTIAN COMMISSION.

THANKSGIVING APPEAL
FOR THE NATION'S DEFENDERS.
To the Ministers and Churches of our Lord Jesus Christ throughout the Loyal States.

The President has invited the observance of Thursday, the 26th day of November, as a day of Thanksgiving to God for the mercies of the year.

Among the greatest of these mercies are the abundance bestowed on us at home, and the success vouchsafed in the field.

The United States Christian Commission as a great national agency between the home and field, appeals to you in behalf of our country's defenders, for Thanksgiving Day Collections. Contributions of clothing and comforts, as well as of money, are needed.

Aware of the excellent custom in many of the churches of making collections for the poor on that day, the Commission would not make this appeal but for the urgent necessity of caring for the soldiers. The poor we have always with us, but the opportunity of benefiting and saving the men under arms, if put off now, will be lost forever.

Such churches as may not hold service Thanksgiving Day are requested to take the best opportunity before or after that day to present the matter and gather the contributions of the people. Some churches are without Ministers to stir up their pure minds by way of remembrance. In these, let the officers or some friend of the cause take it in hand. Let no church fail of giving its contributions. The urgency is great. The call is instant. The want is immense. A million of men in hospital and camp and on shipboard wait in perishing need. The encouragement to give is wonderful. From every field, our delegates returning, tell us of their glad welcomes, of suffering relieved, lives saved, and souls converted to God. Never was there such a harvest offered to the Church.

The Commission, at its late general meeting, felt constrained to devise plans for enlarging its work. Measures have been vigorously entered upon by which, if the source of supply does not fail, the men at the front, in every department of the vast field of conflict, and those in every hospital and camp of the army and navy, will be reached.

Fill up the fountain. Flood the enlarged channels. Send us liberal, noble Thanksgiving remembrances for our absent, brave, suffering heroes. We will convey them, nothing diminished, and bring back their glad and grateful blessings to you. Contributions may be sent to the Treasurer of the Commission, JOSEPH PATTERSON, Esq., at Western Bank, Philadelphia, or to JAMES M. BROWN, Esq., (Brown Bros. & Co.,) No. 59 Wall-st., New-York. GEORGE H. STUART, President.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2, 1863.

FATALITY OF CONSUMPTION.—In some parts of this country nearly one-fourth of the population is destroyed by Consumption and other diseases of the respiratory organs. Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, has been more successful than any other man in the United States in treating this class of diseases. He has proved by numerous examples that CONSUMPTION IS CURABLE, all professional opinions to the contrary notwithstanding. Dr. SCHENCK himself, more than thirty years ago, was cured of Consumption in its worst form and its most desperate stage. The medicine used by him, which is now celebrated under the name of "SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP," has cured many others in cases which baffled the skill of eminent physicians. Dr. S. now uses two auxiliary remedies, called "SCHENCK'S SEA-WEED TONIC" and "SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS," which facilitate the cure when pulmonary disease is complicated with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, as it very often is. In some cases the Pulmonary Syrup alone is sufficient—in other circumstances, one or the other of the auxiliary remedies will be needed. The directions which accompany each medicine, instruct the patient how to distinguish by the symptoms, the precise nature of his disease, and what the proper remedy may be used. The Pulmonic Syrup is always required in the treatment of Consumption; the other two medicines, one or both must be used according to circumstances. If these three remedies are used in time, and used strictly according to the directions, Dr. Schenck insures a cure, provided the lungs are not too much decayed to afford any chance of the patient's recovery.

Dr. SCHENCK can only be found at his rooms No. 32 Bond-st., New-York every Tuesday, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M., for consultation and advice, but his medicines can be had there at all times.

NOTICE.

To the Stockholders of the New-York and Harlem Railroad Company:

The increasing business of the Company and anticipated connections with other Railroads render it expedient forthwith to extend the double track from its present terminus at Williams Bridge to Chatham Four Corners, and to complete the road from that place through to Albany.

For the purpose of meeting the necessary outlays attending such constructions, and to defray the expenses incident to the extensions of the City Railroad already authorized, the Board of Directors have resolved that it is expedient to increase the Capital Stock to such amount, not exceeding the limitation of the Charters, as may be sanctioned by the requisite vote of the Stockholders, and to issue the increased stock from time to time as may be required for the purposes of completing such double track and extensions and procuring the necessary additional rolling stock.

The amount of the Capital Stock, as limited by the charter and amendatory acts, and including both the Common and Preferred Stock, is eight millions of dollars, of which two millions one hundred and thirty-nine thousand nine hundred and fifty dollars remained unissued.

The Board of Directors propose that the Capital Stock be increased to its full amount.

A meeting of the Stockholders for the purpose of acting upon such resolution of the Board of Directors and of concurring in the increase of the Capital Stock to the full amount, authorized by the Charter and the several acts of the Legislature, amendatory thereof, will be held at the Office of the Company, at the corner of 26th-st. and 4th-av., on TUESDAY, the first day of December next, at 12 o'clock noon of that day.

For the purpose of ascertaining the Stockholders who shall be entitled to vote at such meeting, the Books of Transfer will be closed, as required by law, on Saturday, the 7th day of November inst., the day of the first publication of this notice.

The Books will be open on Tuesday, the 10th day of November inst.

Dated, New-York, Nov. 6, 1863.

AUCTION SALES.

SCRANTON COAL AT AUCTION.

OFFICE OF THE DELAWARE, LACKAWANNA AND WESTERN RAILROAD CO.,
NEW-YORK, Nov. 12, 1863.

This Company will hold their tenth regular monthly auction, on WEDNESDAY, the 25th day of November, 1863, at 12 o'clock noon, at the Office of the Company, No. 35 William-st., at which time they will offer, by SIMEON DRAPER, Auctioneer,

TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND TONS OF FRESH MINED SCRANTON COAL, embracing all the usual sizes, and deliverable at their Depot, Elizabethport, N. J., after the 1st of December next. They will repeat such auction sales on or about the 20th of each month, during the year 1863.

The sale will be positive. Each lot put up will be sold to the highest bidder; no bids, in any form whatever, being made for account of, or on behalf of the Company.

Fifty cents per ton, in bankable funds, to be paid at the time and place of sale, and the balance, in like funds, on receiving the order for the coal, which must be called for within ten days thereafter, and the coal taken away within thirty days from the day of sale, unless navigation is obstructed. Buyers who wish, however, can have an additional thirty days for taking the delivery of their purchases, by making a further deposit of 50 cents per ton within the ten days above specified. Interest, at 7 per cent. per annum, will in such case be charged on the balance, from the time stipulated for payment until paid; and 25 cents per ton to cover the expense of stocking the coal—both to be paid on delivery of order.

The other conditions of sale will be substantially those hitherto accepted by all purchasers, by private contract, of coal deliverable at Elizabethport, so far as applicable. The coal will be delivered direct from the cars on their arrival from the mines when practicable—otherwise from the stock. These conditions will be modified to meet the wants of ocean steamers, whose arrival cannot be definitely fixed.

The room in which previous sales have been held being appropriated to other purposes, attention is called to the fact that the sale now announced will be held at the office of the Company.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by Dr. WARD & CO., No. 50 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and expense than any one can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks. Permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No 50 Lispenard-st., the only place. Call, send for a circular, or write.

SURE CURE—BY DR. POWERS, SUCCESSfully consulted with Dr. WARD, No. 50 Lispenard-st. Conducted on the plan of the Hospital des Veneriens, Paris, where those afflicted with any form of private disease can receive prompt treatment, without risk of exposure, viz.: Syphilis, gonorrhœa, gleet, strictures, ulcers, tumors, cancers, secondary and constitutional syphilis, diseases of the kidneys, &c., &c. Thirty years of extensive practice, exclusively devoted to the treatment of those complaints enable us to effect cures in cases where others of less experience have failed. Dr. Powers' Essence of Life restores the vigor of youth in four weeks. This marvelous agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution—physical disqualifications, impediments to marriage, thereby speedily cured. The men to consult, Drs. Ward and Powers, the champions and kings of venereal diseases, possessing the most certain, speedy and only effectual remedies in the world, guarantee a perfect cure, or no charge, in from one to three days. Established in 1840. Those who have used their preventives are never without. Send for a circular. To Ladies.—Dr. Powers' Periodical Drops are a safe and certain remedy for monthly irregularities. The above remedies sent by mail. The afflicted should read their circular. Postage free, on receipt of a stamp. Cures warranted.

The time required to cure the most inveterate case is one week. Failure is impossible. This life-restoring remedy should be taken by all about to marry, as its effects are permanent. HELP! HELP! HELP!
FOR THE FREEDMEN AND COLORED SOLDIERS.
A Committee of ladies of New-York, Williamsburgh and Brooklyn propose holding a fair for the benefit of the soldiers and freedmen. Let every man and woman in our land do something for these poor and needy ones; it matters not how little, but do something. Clothing, provisions, fruits, cast-off clothing, or fancy articles and books, will be most gratefully received and fully appreciated. To our country merchants we would again say that all or any donations will be acknowledged, either of money or the above articles. They will be received in Brooklyn at No. 118 Myrtle-av.; in New-York at Cooper Institute, Room No. 20. Persons desiring articles sent for will please send directions to either of these places and the goods will be sent for. Any person having curiosities would confer a favor upon the fair for the benefit of the freedmen and colored soldiers, by loaning such curiosities, that a table or room of the same may be made. Responsible parties will receive them at 20 Cooper Institute.

VAN AMBURGH & CO., in calling attention of the public, to this, the most

SPACIOUS, ELEGANT AND STUPENDOUS

building ever constructed, beg leave to state that they are now enabled to present to the citizens of New-York, in unexampled splendor, a zoological building in keeping with the enterprising spirit of the great American public. The abovenamed premises have been completely rebuilt, remodeled and reconstructed, decorated, carved, embellished and ornamented, so as to adapt them for an exhibition of Zoological Wonders, and arranged in a style of

GRANDEUR AND GORGEOUS MAGNIFICENCE

unequaled by any building for zoological purposes in the known world. Even the far-famed

GOVERNMENT ZOOLOGICAL GARDENS

of Europe, upon which hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent annually, fail to present such a grand and beautiful view as the visitor beholds on entering this

PALACE OF ZOOLOGICAL WONDERS, so constructed, that from the most remote portions of the immense galleries can be seen at one glance nearly all the myriads of animals and birds there congregated, and, at the same time, view the splendid performances in the lower portions of this, the

EXCELSIOR ZOOLOGICAL BUILDING OF THE WORLD.

The New-York public, especially the rising generation, have long felt the necessity of a first-class exhibition of this kind, where instruction and amusement are harmoniously blended in one, and where natural history could be studied from the living animals themselves.

THE GREAT STUDY OF NATURAL HISTORY

is capable of yielding innumerable subjects for both moral and religious study. Its chief tendency ought to be, to lead us from the admiration of the works to the contemplation of their Author, to teach us to look through Nature up to Nature's God. It is a study which terminates in the conviction, the knowledge, and the adoration of that Merciful Being, to whose goodness alone we are indebted for every happiness that we enjoy. VAN AMBURGH & CO., with a laudable desire to increase the general fund of human knowledge, and seeing the great benefits the community would derive from an extensive first-class collection of

LIVING WILD ANIMALS,

sent energetic and trusty agents to every available portion of the known world, from which the finest animals and birds are obtained, with instructions to procure none but the most beautiful of their kind. The result of which has been the collection of myriads of animals and birds fresh from their native clime, and superior to any that have ever been seen on this continent, and constituting the only ever exhibited to the citizens of New-York.

COMPLETE FIRST-CLASS MENAGERIE

The great beauty of these animals over any other that have ever been exhibited, at once attracts and astonishes the beholder.

Science is deeply indebted to

THE GREAT VAN AMBURGH HIMSELF

for the rich and enviable services he has rendered. Through his extensive knowledge of the nature and habits of the various animals, he has been enabled to place before the American public an exhibition of such superior excellence and great beauty, as was never before presented in any

ZOOLOGICAL INSTITUTE IN THE KNOWN WORLD.

The performances,

MORNING, AFTERNOON, AND NIGHT,

of Prof. Langworthy, with Lions, Tigers, Leopards, Pumas, Panthers &c., are astonishing to behold. Prof. Nash exercises and performs the ELEPHANT, TIPPO SAIB.

No language can convey an accurate description of all the beauties and graces displayed by this Miracle of Sagacity. Trick Ponies, Comic Mules, and Educated Monkeys will also appear at each performance.

Director ..... MAX MARETZEK.
LAST WEEK OF THE SEASON.
ON WEDNESDAY EVENING, Nov. 25, at 7¾ o'clock,
TWENTY-THIRD SUBSCRIPTION NIGHT.

FAUST.
GRAND OPERA IN FIVE ACTS BY GOUNOD.
ACT I.—Faust and Mephistophiles—The Compact.
ACT II.—The Kermesse.
ACT III.—The Garden.
ACT IV.—Repentance.
ACT V.—Death.

No opera, ever, in the short space of four years, obtained the celebrity now attached to the "Faust" of Maestro Gounod. This work was composed in the year 1859, and was produced in Paris the following Winter. In London it was brought out at Her Majesty's Theatre, and became so successful that the management at Covent Garden (Royal Italian Opera) was forced to put "Faust" in rehearsal, to the exclusion of "La Forza del Destino," by Verdi, a promising attraction. In Paris "Faust" has been performed already over seven hundred times. Milan witnessed it simultaneously with London, and in each Capital the public evinced the most remarkable appreciation of the merits of the work, whether musical, dramatic or artistic. Throughout the whole of Germany the opera has occasioned a profound sensation, and is regarded by managers as a never-failing attraction.

SO RACY OF THE IRISH SOIL.
The Times, of yesterday, says:
"The Florences, at the Winter Garden, have made a decided hit in the new legendary drama of 'Kathleen Mavourneen.' It enters on its third week to-night, and bids fair to run through the season. The play contains many fine situations, and from beginning to end the interest is unflagging. Unlike the majority of such pieces it contains excellent parts for the leading members of the company, in addition to an appropriate rôle for Mr Florence. All the ample resources of the Winter Garden have been expended on its production. The scenery is remarkably fine, and the dresses are as picturesque as the locale permits. The acting is uniformly good. Indeed, we have no recollection of a 'star' play that had so much of general interest and intrinsic merit to recommend in it. The vivacious and charming Mrs. Florence appears in the farce."

INTERNAL WORKINGS OF THE REBELLION

Letter from John M. Botts to the Richmond Examiner.

He Skillfully Lays Bare the Tyranny of Jeff. Davis.

HIS SUFFERINGS AND MISFORTUNES.

BOLD WORDS FROM A SOUTHERN MAN.

Headquarters Army of the Potomac, near Brandy Station, Nov. 21, 1863.

Hon. John Minor Botts:

Sir: I have been informed that previous to the recrossing of the Rappahannock by Gen. Meade, you had prepared a letter for publication in the Richmond Press; and knowing that anything from your pen, particularly at this time, has a deep interest for the country, I would respectfully solicit a copy of the letter, on behalf of the Associated Press, for publication. Respectfully, T. BARNARD, Correspondent of the Associated Press.

Auburn, Culpepper County, Va.,
Sunday, Nov. 21, 1863.

Dear Sir: Your note of to-day has been received. You have not been misinformed as to my having written a letter for publication in one of the Richmond papers, prior to the arrival of the Federal army in this vicinity, which I have reason to suppose has, before this, reached the public eye through the channel for which it was intended; I therefore inclose you a copy of the letter for the purpose indicated in your note. I am, very respectfully, yours,

JNO. M. BOTTS.

T. Barnard, Esq., Correspondent Associated Press.

Auburn, Culpepper Co., Oct. 18, 1863.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: Yours is the only paper published in Richmond, to which I could make an application with any likelihood of success, in order to set myself right before the public; and you will pardon me for saying that I am by no means confident of obtaining such a privilege at your hands, but I think I have a right to expect it, inasmuch as you have chosen to publish an extract from a letter, written by a correspondent for, and published in the New-York Herald, accompanied with some uncalled-for and ill-natured comments of your own. But I do not ask you to publish for me, without making a suitable charge, which I am more than willing to pay. I hope, therefore, you will allow me to say, that whilst I have long since foreborne to make corrections of any misrepresentations of me by the public Press, yet here are some of such a nature, and calculated to beget so much prejudice in the public mind, that I do not feel that I would be acting wisely or properly to let them pass unnoticed.

I am willing at all times to be held to a proper responsibility for anything I may say or do; but I am not willing to be so held for what others, who may draw upon their fancies for their facts, may choose to say for me, or of me. I have seen several statements in the Richmond papers lately copied from Northern papers calculated to excite popular feeling against me, which had no foundation in truth.

First, that I had been accosted by some Indiana Major, then engaged in a skirmish with some of the Confederate Cavalry, and on being asked which way they had gone, (which, by the way, if he was skirmishing with them, he ought to have known for himself without asking me,) I replied, "I was not at liberty to tell him, as I was on my parole," and gratuitously added, that "I was a Union man, without any ifs or buts." Now, whatever my opinions and position on this subject may be, it is not true that I have had any such interview. I have seen no such Major, and had no such question put to me, and have given no such answer.

Secondly—In the letter, a portion of which you have copied, I am represented by the writer as having said: "I wished the Federal Government knew half that I knew of the rebels and their resources and intentions." I have only to say that I said no such thing, and nothing that would bear a resemblance to it; and when I read the Herald containing it, I mentioned the error to two other correspondents of that paper, and asked them to have it corrected, which they promised should be done. I see nothing in it, if I had said it, to be complained of by other parties, as it matters not what I knew of their intentions and resources, provided I did not disclose them to others. I complained of it because it made me appear in the ridiculous attitude of pretending to know, what every man of intelligence and reflection was obliged to know. It was preposterous in the extreme. For all know that I am not in the confidence of the Government, or the commanders of its forces, and therefore could know nothing of their intentions. And as to their resources, I profess to be profoundly ignorant, either as to what they are or where they are. What he says about my purchases in Richmond is true. For what would have cost before the war at regular market prices $61 15, I did pay $1,368 03 for. But this was disclosing no important State secret, inasmuch as you furnish them with the prices current once or twice a week; and these current prices are as well known in New-York as they are to me. But I did not tell it with any expectation that it was to get into the newspapers; for when I mentioned it I did not know to whom I was addressing myself. The gentleman came, as many others did, to pay his respects, and it was not until he was going away that he handed me his card, by which I ascertained that he was an army correspondent of the New-York Herald. I incidentally mentioned the fact in speaking of the great scarcity of and high prices for every thing. To this part of his letter, therefore, I made no objection.

But in your comments on this letter, you say: "Mr. Botts came to Richmond on quite a different errand than on a marketing expedition. He came to draw some twelve or fifteen thousand dollars of the Government which he delights to abuse and affects so much to despise. He abhors the Government but loves its money." In the first place let me say that whatever I may think of the Government, yet I have never felt myself entirely at liberty in this land of freedom to say half as much against its administration as I have read in your own editorial columns; but if I have never made professions of devotion to the Government, I have never ceased to feel a warm interest in the welfare of the people of Virginia, with whose prosperity and freedom my own are entirely identified; and I will take occasion to say here, what I said to Gen. Meade, and what I have said to all, that my earnest prayer is, that this revolution may result in whatever may contribute most to the permanent peace, happiness, prosperity and freedom of the people of Virginia. These are the blessings of a good Government. This is what I suppose is desired and aimed at by all, unless the selfish politicians and the corrupt speculators in and out of the army may constitute an exception. They care not under what sort of Government they live, provided they fill the high places and have their pockets well lined. We may differ possibly, and perhaps honestly, as to the best means of attaining these desirable ends; if it is by the success of the revolution, then I pray God the revolution may succeed; but if by a restoration of the Union, then I hope the Union may be restored. What I want is a Government that has the will and the power to protect my person and my property against all abuses; and that I would prefer living as I did before the war to living as I have done since the war, is beyond all question; and I would be a madman or a fool if I did not, and a knave or a hypocrite if I were to pretend otherwise.

Secondly—I hope I committed no unpardonable offence if I did go to Richmond to collect, or try to collect, some twelve or fifteen hundred dollars, for which I furnished supplies, or rather for which supplies were taken from me for the use of the Confederate army, all of which were certified to, as being due by the commanders of regiments or by Quartermasters, but which were not paid, because the accounts were not made out in the precise form required, at what you have called the "Red Tape and circumlocution offices," which accounts are still due and unpaid, and, I fear, are likely to remain so.

Finally, it has been announced that I have been arrested and sent to Richmond, but those who made the arrest, and those who made the announcement, have taken good care not to mention the cause of the arrest, thereby leaving the public to infer that I had committed some grave offence against the Government which you say I so much abhor. God knows it, and its agents have given me no great reason to worship it.

Let us see how the account stands. On my part I have done nothing from first to last of which this Government can complain, unless it be that I have not become democratized, and have made no concessions to Democracy, and have none to make hereafter, because I have not chosen to follow blindly wherever Democracy might choose to lead.

On the other hand, of what have I to complain. First—The legislative power of the Government has been especially directed against me, while I was leading the most retired and secluded life, as was clearly admitted by Mr. Henry S. Foote, at the recent session of Congress, when he said he had been induced to vote for the declaration of martial law and suspension of the writ of habeas corpus upon a representation of the condition of things, supposed to exist in the neighborhood of the City of Richmond, but which turned out to be entirely groundless. Secondly—The power of the Executive branch of the Government has been exercised against me, when under this detestable, unwritten, unknown code called martial law. Upon no charge preferred before the Court of Inquiry, they had me arrested in my bed, between the hours of midnight and daybreak, hurried me off to a dirty, filthy negro jail, where I was kept in solitary confinement for eight weeks, when, with all the vigilance and research of their numerous detectives, they could find nothing upon which to hinge a charge; and now comes a second arrest without a charge, whilst the army itself has been turned loose upon me to destroy my property by design and by order of officers in high command, which I can establish if I can procure their arrest and trial by Court-martial; under which order my yard, garden and cornfields have been ruthlessly invaded, the fencing of each torn down to the ground, and all converted into a general camp-ground, camp fires built, and horses turned into each by the Fourth Virginia cavalry, under command of Capt. Randolph, and when Dr. Kidwell (with whom I had been until 10 o'clock picking up and nursing the wounded men of both parties, more than twenty of whom were brought to my house,) remonstrated with them, they said it was wrong and should not have done it; but they were ordered to destroy "whatever they d—n pleased." And upon this being repeated by Dr. K. to Capt. Randolph he neither affirmed nor denied that such orders had been given. From which scenes of violence, together with the effects produced by my arrest on the next day, one of my daughters has been ill of nervous typhoid fever ever since; and not only has my fencing been torn down and destroyed in every direction, but some twenty-five or thirty of my best hogs have been shot down, and I have not been left one ear of my entire crop of corn, all of which could not be used was carried off or destroyed. And I now challenge any and every man of the Southern Confederacy to come forward with any charge that can be made against me for anything said or done, for which that Government or its army can justly complain. And but for the protection now afforded me by a guard from the headquarters of Gen. R. E. Lee, none can tell to what condition I should have been reduced. Have I then, Mr. Editor, think you, had much reason for attachment or devotion to a Government by which I have been thus treated. You complain of the treatment Mr. Vallandigham has received at the hands of his Government. He made many violent speeches, in which he took active and strong grounds against his Government, and for this he was sent amongst his friends, as they supposed. But I have done nothing, taken no part, but maintained firmly and consistently, as I shall continue to do, my own private opinions, and the convictions of my best judgment, which have not been controlled by any considerations of selfishness, ambition, or fear, as I wrote the Secretary of War, whilst I was confined in McDaniel's negro jail, in the Spring of 1862; and because I cannot surrender these convictions, am I thus to be oppressed and persecuted by the Government and its army? I have no better vindication for having withheld my approval of the war, than is to be found in the facts that there is not one of those who aided in bringing it on, that would do it if with their present experience it had to be gone over again, or if they could have foreseen what has followed, all of which I did foresee and foretell, and if any man, with brains in his head and a heart in his bosom, says he would, then I say flatly, I don't believe him.

But to come back to my second arrest by Gen. J. E. B. Stuart, on Monday morning, the 12th inst., following the night of the ruthless and heartless destruction of my property, Gen. Stuart's Provost-Marshal, rode up with a guard to my house with a warrant, of which the following is a copy:

Headquarters Cavalry Corps, Oct. 12, 1863.

Lieut. Ryalls: You will arrest John Minor Botts, and send him to Richmond. Charges will be forwarded from these headquarters as soon as practicable. Don't allow him to annoy Gen. Lee, but keep him as a prisoner of State. Let me know how many prisoners.

By command of Maj.-Gen. J. E. B. STUART.
A. R. Venable, Major and Adjutant.

Upon this warrant, containing no charge, I was arrested about 10½ o'clock on Monday morning, carried under guard to Culpepper Court-house, kept there until 5 o'clock, and then discharged on the ground that there was no charge against me. But I have been semi-officially informed from two sources, either of which would be regarded as authentic, that the sole ground of my arrest was that I had entertained Gen. Meade and other Federal officers at my table; and if it was not that it was upon some other pretext equally frivolous and contemptible, which I hereby challenge Gen. Stuart to lay before the public, and if it be any offence against the peace and dignity of Gen. Stuart or of the Confederate Government that I should have entertained Federal officers at my table, which would justify my arrest, then Major-Gen. Stuart has signally failed in the discharge of his duty to the peace and dignity of his Government, and to the peace and dignity of the aforesaid Maj.-Gen. Stuart, by not bringing me to trial for this high crime and misdemeanor—for although it is not true that Gen. Meade took his dinner at my table, I hereby make it known to all whom it may concern that I invited him to do so, and deeply regretted that his constant engagements prevented his acceptance of the invitation. I moreover further proclaim that if he should return to this vicinity, (which I do not at all anticipate,) I shall in all probability subject myself to another arrest by a repetition of the offence, without consulting Gen. Stuart's pleasure on the subject.

The truth is I have entertained freely and hospitably the officers and gentlemen of both armies whose acquaintance I have enjoyed, and shall continue to do so, so long as I am master of my own house, and so long as they treat me with kindness and civility, let it offend whom it may; provided the means are left me with which to entertain them, and unless, in the meantime, I shall be prohibited by law, or by some higher authority than that of Gen. Stuart.

In fact, I have met with no officer in the Confederate army, and with few privates with whom I was acquainted, from Gen. Robert E. Lee down, with the exception of Gen. Stuart, that I have not invited to my house—nearly all of whom have partaken of my hospitality—whilst hundreds of half-famished soldiers have been furnished with meals, for which I have never charged the first dime, whilst they were in the habit of paying, as they said themselves, to brawling Secessionists from two to three dollars a meal; but this furnished no ground of complaint with any gentleman of the Northern army, many of whom expressed their surprise and gratification on hearing that they had visited me thus freely and familiarly.

But no sooner was I arrested than the whole atmosphere was filled with rumors to my disadvantage and prejudice, among the rest that I had been caught in the National lines on the day of the fight with arms in my hands to be used against the Confederate Government.

The circumstances which gave rise to this rumor are as follows: As a portion of the Federal cavalry passed my house, about 2 o'clock on Sunday, my neighbor, Mr. Bradford, sent me a note, saying he had been arrested, and was then in the custody of the Federal officers, and asked me to ride over to Brandy Station, to meet him, which I did. On my return I passed Gen. Lomax's brigade, and when half their column had passed me, and was between me and the Federals, and in the presence of the other half, I met young Slaughter, the son of Dr. Slaughter, of Culpepper Court-house, who had a gun and knapsack in his hand, with which incumbrance he could not control his horse, and he asked me to take it with me to my house and keep it until he called for it. At great inconvenience I took it, and this act of kindness and accommodation to Mr. Slaughter was tortured into my bearing arms against the South; though Gen. Stuart himself knew what had carried me to Brandy, for he had seen a letter from me to Mrs. Bradford, telling her of the arrest of her husband, and of my having been sent for to meet him at Brandy Station.

However, these rumors, publications and arrest have had their desired effect, as they have led to the most wanton, wicked and savage destruction of my property, such as I have already mentioned, and excited the prejudice of the army, and possibly of misled citizens, against me. But I hope to outlive it all, whilst the authors of such vandalism will be held to a just accountability at the hands of a military commander whose high moral, intellectual and military qualities are justly esteemed by the whole country, and by none more highly than myself; also, if not by him, then by a still higher military authority, to wit, the War Department; and, if not there, then by the civil tribunals of the country; and if not there, then by a just, discriminating and indignant public judgment.

And now let me inquire, has martial law been declared again? And if not—when, where, how, and from whom did Gen. Stuart derive the authority to arrest me, or any other citizen, for any offence whatever, and retain me as a prisoner of State? If any charge was to be preferred against me for a civil offence, where were the civil authorities? And why was not complaint lodged with them upon affidavit, as the law requires? How came I, a private, peaceable and quiet citizen, subject to the military authority of Gen. Stuart? And why was I not to be allowed, if I thought proper to appeal to his superior in command, Gen. Lee, against this flagrant usurpation of power and most inexcusable instance of false imprisonment?

If I mistake not, Congress, by an express vote, refused to grant these high prerogatives of dictatorial power to Mr. Davis; how is it, then, that Gen. Stuart undertakes first to establish a martial law for himself, and then virtually to suspend the writ of habeas corpus by a denial of my right to appeal to his superior in command?

If such power can be exercised by Gen. Stuart with impunity, with whom and where does the power stop? To how low a grade of military authority does it descend? And I may further ask, why, of all the gentlemen in and around the Court-house who entertained Federal officers, was I alone to be selected for the exercise of this military power, for this indignity and outrage? These are all questions of grave interest to the liberty of every citizen, that cannot and shall not be slurred over, if there is any justice in the military department of this Government, or independence to be found in the judiciary of this State.

Hitherto I have been silent as to the wrongs, injuries and indignities that have been heaped upon me; but I am not a spaniel, to lie down and crouch at the bidding of any master, nor to lick the hand that smites me, nor am I Christian enough, when one cheek is slapped, to turn the other; and if I am thus to be selected as a particular object of persecution and can find no protection from the law then will I protect myself. This I cannot do against the Government, or against the army; but I can and will do it, when the law, military and civil, both fail me, against any one man that this Confederacy can boast.

When I purchased my present home, it was to seek retirement and obscurity, to get out of the way of the world and to follow for the balance of my life the peaceful pursuits of agriculture; there was then no army here, nor did I suppose there would be one. I disturbed nobody, went nowhere, except among kind and friendly neighbors with whom it has been my good fortune to secure as large a share of respect and esteem as any one who has ever lived in the country, and in this condition of things it was that in imitation of the Confederate Government, "All I asked was to be let alone."

But what is the liberty of any citizen worth if a military Commander can, in the exercise of a despotic Power, or a weak and imbecile discretion, or in a fit of spleen toward one who has offended, by reporting him for official misconduct, in which eight other gentlemen united, drag that citizen from the bosom of his family, heap upon him the indignity and wrong of having him arrested and conducted through the streets of a crowded village under guard, keep him in that condition long enough for all sorts of idle and malicious rumors to be circulated, and send over the telegraphic wires respecting him, and order his discharge upon the ground that there was nothing to be alleged against him.

And now, Mr. Editor, in conclusion, let me say that the Press may continue to misrepresent and abuse me, I may be arrested and thrown into a dungeon, my fencing may be torn down and destroyed, my crops may be laid waste and carried off, my stock may be stolen or shot down under my own eye; my house may be burned over my own head, as has been threatened; but I cannot, for all that, be induced to swerve a hair's breadth from the line of conduct that my own judgment and conscience may dictate—which is to take no lot, part or share in the responsibility that rests upon those who have brought this whirlpool of desolation and ruin upon my unfortunate country. Nor shall I depart from the position I have taken, of doing nothing that can justly subject me to outrage, animadversion or rebuke. But if to adhere firmly and consistently to the opinions and principles that I have maintained for thirty years, and if to prefer living as I did before the war to living as I have done since the war, makes me a traitor, then a traitor's life let me live or a traitor's death let me die. I am respectfully yours,

JOHN M. BOTTS.

P. S.—Since the above was written a copy of the Examiner has reached me containing the following announcement:

"The battle took place on the farm of John Minor Botts. * * * * * *

We may here remark that the property on the farm of this extraordinary individual, of whom the Confederate States stand in such fear, had been religiously respected by the Yankees; whereas the country around was little better than a wilderness, his fence and crops were untouched. But that night made a change in its condition. Three thousand Confederate cavalry bivouacked there after the battle, and fed their horses in his cornfield. The next morning there were very few fence rails and very little corn left. The men could be heard to say while piling high their fires, Pile on, boys; they are nothing but a—d old Union rails."

I am glad to avail myself of the testimony of this "leaky vessel," who fully confirms what I have said above, but although he does not state what is true in regard to the general destruction of property in the neighborhood, for it gives me great pleasure to say that a guard was furnished to every family that asked for it, all of whose property was amply protected, as every one in the neighborhood will testify; yet he certainly states what is true in regard to the general destruction of my property—and I must say that the achievement of three thousand cavalry conquering one man and a corn-field, is one of which, in the future, they can take no great pride, when their prejudices and passions shall have subsided.

Another article has also appeared in the Dispatch, recommending my imprisonment or banishment, which is altogether unworthy of notice, I will only say that whatever other difficulties I may labor under, I do not esteem it a misfortune that I have no soldiers at my command to turn loose upon any citizen, nor aids at my elbow to bring them into discredit with the people. Thank God, when there is a necessity for it, I can do my own fighting.

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering. The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness of the truth of the assertion. The constitution once affected by organic weakness requires the aid of medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which of the worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the blood. Of all the discoveries that have been made to purge it out, none can equal in effect HELMBOLD'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. It cleanses and renovates the blood, instils the vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors which make disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body and expels the disorders that grow and rankle in the blood. Such a remedy that could be relied on, has long been sought for, and now, for the first time, the public have one on which they can depend. Our space here does not admit certificates to show its effect; but the trial of a single bottle will show to the sick that it has virtues surpassing anything they have ever taken.

Two tablespoonfuls of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is fully equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoction as usually made.

These Extracts have been admitted to use in the United States Army, and are also in very general use in all the State Hospitals and public sanitary institutions throughout the land, as well as in private practice, and are considered as invaluable remedies.

READ WHO SAYS SO!

From Rev. Levi G. Beck, Pastor of the Baptist Meeting, Pemberton, N. J., formerly of the North Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

* * * * * * *

I have known Hoofland's German Bitters favorably for a number of years. I have used them in my own family and have been so pleased with their effects that I was induced to recommend them to many others, and know that they have operated in a strikingly beneficial manner. I take great pleasure in thus publicly proclaiming this fact, and calling the attention of those afflicted with the diseases for which they are recommended, to these Bitters, knowing from experience that my recommendation will be sustained. I do this more cheerfully as Hoofland's Bitters is intended to benefit the afflicted, and is "not a rum drink." Yours truly, LEVI G. BECK.

From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects, I yet know of no sufficient reasons why a man may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this City, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend, Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them. J. NEWTON BROWN.

From Rev. Joseph H. Kennard, Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church.

Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with commendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear proof in various instances, and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that, for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.

Yours, very respectfully,
J. H. KENNARD,
8th, below Coates-st., Philadelphia.

From Rev. Warren Randolph, Pastor of Baptist Church, Germantown, Penn.

Dr. C. M. Jackson—Dear Sir: Personal experience enables me to say that I regard the German Bitters prepared by you as a most excellent medicine. In cases of severe cold and general debility I have been greatly benefited by the use of the Bitters, and doubt not they will produce similar effects in others.

Yours, truly, WARREN RANDOLPH,
Germantown, Penn.

From Rev. J. H. Turner, Pastor of Hedding M. E. Church, Philadelphia.

Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: Having used your German Bitters in my family frequently, I am prepared to say that it has been of great service. I believe that in most cases of general debility of the system it is the safest and most valuable remedy of which I have any knowledge.

Yours, respectfully, J. H. TURNER.
No. 726 North 19th-st.

From Rev. J. M. Lyons, formerly Pastor of the Columbus (N. J.) and Milestown (Penn.) Baptist Churches, New-Rochelle, N. Y.

Dr. C. M. Jackson—Dear Sir: I feel it a pleasure thus, of my own accord, to bear testimony to the excellence of the German Bitters. Some years since, being much afflicted with Dyspepsia, I used them with very beneficial results. I have often recommended them to persons enfeebled by that tormenting disease, and have heard from them the most flattering testimonials as to their great value. In cases of general debility, I believe it to be a tonic that cannot be surpassed. J. M. LYONS.

From Rev. Thomas Winter, Pastor of Roxborough Baptist Church.

Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I feel it due to your excellent preparation, Hoofland's German Bitters, to add my testimony to the deserved reputation it has obtained. I have for years, at times, been troubled with great disorder in my head and nervous system. I was advised by a friend to try a bottle of your German Bitters. I did so, and have experienced great and unexpected relief; my health has been very materially benefited. I confidently recommend the article where I meet with cases similar to my own, and have been assured by many of their good effects.

Respectfully yours,
T. WINTER, Roxborough, Penn.

From Rev. J. S. Herman, of the German Reformed Church, Kutztown, Berks County, Penn.

Dr. C. M. Jackson—Respected Sir: I have been troubled with Dyspepsia nearly twenty years, and have never used any medicine that did me as much good as Hoofland's Bitters. I am very much improved in health, after having taken five bottles.

Yours, with respect,
J. S. HERMAN.
